REDS KILL FOUR IN PARADE

CABINET CALLS PARLEY TO END MINE DISPUTE

Both Sides Must Get Square Deal, U.S. Attitude.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—When John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, and his associates at Indianapolis yielded to the sovereignty of the law today the government at Washington determined that their differences with the coal operators must be adjusted.

President Wilson and his cabinet immediately took action designed to make sure that justice is done the disputants.

Immediately after confirmation of the strike leaders' action the cabinet, then in session, directed Secretary of Labor Wilson to summon all parties to Washington next Friday for a conference, which is expected to result in the formulation of a new working agreement.

Both Sides to Join Discussions.

At a late hour tonight indications were that there would be no resistance to this plan from any quarter. Representatives of the operators are already here.

The recall of the strike order brought relief in official quarters. Some government officials have maintained all along that when the time came President Lewis and his associates would obey the mandate of the United States court, but others, perhaps the majority, felt that since the issuance of the statement of the American Federation of Labor Sunday night officials of the miners' organization would go to jail rather than cancel the strike order.

While no one in the federation of labor headquarters would admit it, there is every reason for the assertion that the action of President Lewis and his colleagues came as a complete surprise to the members of the executive council.

Union Chiefs Expected Fight.

That it was the general belief among the federation officials that the strike could not be called off is the opinion of practically every one who kept in touch with the coal situation during the last few days.

It was recalled that only last night, a few hours before the officials of the miners' organization voted to obey the law, Samuel Gompers, speaking at a dinner to the delegates to the international labor conference, had said that it might be better to go to jail in defense of what he termed the cause of justice and democracy.

Square Deal for Miners.

Developments here came quickly after the cabinet met to consider its next step following approval by Judge Anderson of the form of strike cancellation order submitted by Acting President Lewis and Secretary Green of the mine workers.

The president's advisers were unanimously of the opinion that the action of the miners' officials entitled them to the fullest consideration of their grievances and that negotiations must be closed within a reasonable time.

Secretary Wilson, immediately after the meeting, sent telegrams to Mr. Lewis of the miners, Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the central competitive field operators' committee, and to Harry N. Taylor, president of the National Coal Operators' association, urging that the scale committees, not only in the central competitive field but in all fields where the strike was effective, be sent to Washington for a conference on Friday. It was regarded tonight as certain that all these committees will be on hand.

May Compromise Differences.

Just what plan Secretary Wilson will propose is not known, but it will be in the form of a compromise on the original demands of the miners, which, it is believed, the operators will accept eventually. The operators have said they would negotiate and the government now proposes to hold them to this.

The miners, having abandoned the strike, must, of course, fall back upon negotiation.

Before Secretary Wilson had sent the telegram to Mr. Brewster at St. Louis Mr. Brewster had arrived in Washington, and before he heard of Secretary Wilson's action he had tele-

WILL MINERS GO BACK TO WORK? MANY BALKING

Leaders Mark Time Till Officially Told of Order.

BULLETIN.

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 12.—Gov. L. J. Frazier early today announced that he had proclaimed martial law in North Dakota and that the state would take over the lignite coal mines at once, following failure of miners and operators to come to an agreement last night as requested by the governor.

Gov. Frazier ordered Adjt. Gen. Fraser to assume charge of the situation at once.

Reports from all parts of the country show a range in sentiment on the part of the striking coal miners, as expressed by their district leaders, from open defiance to patriotic determination to obey the order to end the strike, issued by the executive committee of the United Mine Workers of America.

A summary of the situation, as indicated in dispatches last night, follows:

Springfield, Ill.—Duncan McDonald, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, declares he does not believe miners in Illinois will obey the order canceling the strike. Subdistrict officials here echo this belief.

Joliet, Ill.—Joseph Herron, union treasurer, says men in Coal City and Wilmington fields will not return to the mines without an increase.

Belleville, Ill.—St. Clair and Madison county pit men, numbering 15,000, will not work, even if ordered to, heads of locals say. James Mason, sub-district 7, district 12, flatly defies court by saying that "if the men will listen to me they won't work till demands are met." C. J. Simpson, Collinsville local recording secretary, said sentiment is against resuming work.

Columbus, O.—Miners declare they will tear up union cards rather than defy government; don't need official order; already working.

Athens, O.—Union officials doubt if 10,000 miners in this district will return without pay increases.

Charleston, W. Va.—C. F. Keeney, president of District 17, orders 42,000 miners back to work. Officials uncertain whether they will.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Operators in huge field ready for men; leaders of opposing factions uncertain what men will do; many union leaders believe miners will want convention orders, not order from President Lewis, who merely followed their orders in calling the strike.

Fort Worth, Tex.—Ed Cunningham, miners' official, says men will take up tools upon receipt of official order.

Denver, Colo.—Colorado Fuel and Iron company ready to take back all men except "strikers who tried to persuade others to quit." Number to return uncertain.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Arkansas and Oklahoma mines to open if men return; this is considered improbable till official action at Indianapolis is explained to them; miners sullen; other labor organizations sympathize with resentment, state officials declare.

SHONTS "UNWED," AS $80,000 PAYS DEBTS OF WIFE

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The 1917 separation agreement by Theodore Shonts and his wife was made public today by attorneys for Mrs. Shonts.

On his consent to pay her debts up to $80,000, and to pay her $20,000 a year during his life, each was to permit the other to live the rest of his or her life "as if unmarried." There also was provision for establishment of a trust fund of $100,000, with the Guaranty Trust company for the benefit of his two daughters, in addition to which he provided for payment to each daughter of $7,500 a year, but stipulated the total amount paid to each should not exceed $10,000 a year.

The charge was made in the Surrogate's court today that after the death of Mr. Shonts the apartment in which he lived, after he and his wife separated, had been looted of things valued at $50,000. Mrs. Shonts' attorney, who made the charge, said she had herself appointed administratrix to take steps to regain the missing property.

IN THE KING'S NAME I SALUTE U. S.—WALES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—The prince of Wales closed the first day of his American visit with a speech at the National Press club, addressed to the people, in which he paid warm tributes to the army and navy of the United States.

Earlier in the evening he was officially welcomed by Vice President Marshall, acting in place of President Wilson, at a banquet in the Perry Belmont home, the prince's residence during his visit in Washington.

From early morning, when his train reached the capital, until his address at the Press club, the prince had scarcely an idle moment.

Feels Honor of Reception.

"I regard it as a great honor, and I am finding it also a great pleasure, to have been invited to pay this first visit to the United States. I wish, indeed, that the president, whose visit to England last year I am so happy to be able to return on behalf of my father, the king, had been with us here tonight.

"I have followed his illness with the deepest concern, and I associate myself most earnestly with the hope of his fellow countrymen that he may soon be restored to health.

Bows to Roosevelt's Memory.

"The United States has recently lost one of its noblest citizens in Theodore Roosevelt—a man, a sportsman, and a force. All who knew him feel the poorer for his loss.

"Your president is revered far beyond this country's shores, and the great world is as deeply affected as his own people by his absence from active political life. I was happy to [illegible] a better report of President Wilson at the White House this afternoon and hope to see him before I leave Washington.

"This is Armistice day, and it is indeed a happy coincidence to have been invited tonight to meet the representatives of so many countries which were gallantly allied in the great struggle and gloriously associated in victory.

Speaks as a Canadian.

"As you know, I have recently been traveling in Canada, and I am the richer since that three months' journey by a wonderful experience. I come here, therefore, not only as an Englishman and as a representative of the British empire, but also as a Canadian, who is as intimately and personally concerned as you yourselves in the life of this North American continent.

"The British empire is held together by the common aims and the united sentiment of five sister nations, all of which are devoted to the same cause of democratic self-government.

"But Canada shares with the United States the splendid territories of this rich continent. She is divided from you by no physical barrier, no military line, no frontier other than a boundary guaranteed by international law and good will.

Cherish Our Own; Respect Each Other.

"North of that frontier we cherish our British institutions, our British form of freedom, our British allegiance to the king. South of it you cherish equally the institutions into which the American citizen is born. The forms are different, but the human aim of both systems of government is the same.

"It seems to me that this example of nations living side by side in a spirit of political tolerance and human liberty is entirely incompatible with the militarism, which threatened Europe in the great war, and is thus a living example of the great principles for which we gave our best in that terrible ordeal.

"As the representative here of the British empire, and also—I hope I may say—as a friend and great admirer of the American people, I reflect with pride that our common victory was a victory for the ideal to which we with our institutions and you with yours have given practical shape upon this continent for a hundred years."

Marshall Acclaims Britain.

U. S. AGENTS RAID BROKERS TRADING IN WAR STAMPS

Plan Prosecution of Profiteers in Savings.

Federal raids on six "shoestring brokers," confiscation of more than $25,000 of war savings stamps held illegally by the stamp dealers, and the arrest of Weldon Webster marked the opening yesterday of a federal drive against illicit traffic in wartime thrift accumulations.

Webster was taken from his desk, 521 Ashland block, by secret service agents under Capt. Thomas I. Porter when he was discovered erasing names of original stamp holders who had sold him their cards at a discount, according to the agents. He was released in $3,000 bonds pending hearing Nov. 20.

Secret service men swept down on Martens & Co., 125 West Madison street; the United States Bond company at 67 West Monroe and Washington and Wells streets; W. K. Kemps, 120 North La Salle street; Carl White, 56 West Washington street, and J. S. Lowitz, 203 South Dearborn street.

Seize Stamps as Evidence.

In each of the stamp shops they seized stamps and certificates which, they declare, will be used as evidence of the widespread violation of federal bond regulations. Prosecution of an alleged ring of stamp brokers which is said to reach from coast to coast is planned.

"It may be a surprise to many to know that the individual possession of more than $1,000 in war savings stamps is illegal," remarked a government prosecutor. "That fact makes prosecution of stamp brokers easy. They have been buying stamps by the hundreds and cashing them in with the government at profits ranging from a few cents to several dollars per certificate."

Capt. Porter Explains.

Capt. Porter went into the traffic in detail.

"People desiring to cash their war savings stamps before the ten days required by the government," he said, "could sell to these brokers at a discount. The brokers then would erase the names and numbers on the cards, fill the blanks with odd stamps and present them to the government for payment.

"The cards usually were presented in cities other than that in which the original stamps were bought."

Traffic in Liberty bonds was not made part of the investigation, but may be made part of the general campaign against war savings brokers.

"We have not touched the Liberty bond angle yet," he declared. "It is less subject to direct action because there is no limit to the number of bonds that can be owned by an individual or corporation. Doubtless thousands have been 'trimmed' in the sale of their bonds to unscrupulous dealers."

Russian Prince Only Asks $3,000,000 for Two Pictures

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Chronicle says two Rembrandts are offered for sale privately in this country by a Russian prince. He smuggled them to London, dodging the bolsheviks. As the prince has suggested a price of $3,000,000, the dealers are not "nibbling."

Bell-in-Hand, Oldest Ale House in Boston, Closes

NAB BOY ORATOR WHO ADVOCATES U.S. OVERTHROW

Detective Sergeant Lawrence McDonough of the anarchist squad attended the meeting of the Communist Labor party in People's hall, Hirsch street and Fairfield avenue, last night. Samuel S. Rankin, 18 years old, 1353 North Campbell avenue, a Russian student, was the speaker.

McDonough debated with him, and in the course of his remarks demanded:

"What will you do with the government?"

"O, to hell with the government," the boy orator is said to have replied. "Overthrow it."

McDonough placed him under arrest after the meeting. He had a number of radical papers, including "An open letter to the Revolutionary Socialists." He will be turned over to the federal authorities today.

Thirteen other radicals seized in the recent raids in the Chicago district are to be deported as soon as possible, it was learned yesterday from government officials.

CONVICT MAYOR AND PROSECUTOR AS SWINDLERS

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—Seven defendants, including Mayor Rollin H. Bunch of Muncie, Ind., and Prosecuting Attorney Horace G. Murphy of Delaware county, were found guilty in federal court here late today of conspiring to use the mails to defraud.

The seven men were part of a group of twenty-four indicted in connection with the Muncie case, which involved more than twenty swindle cases and a total of $150,000. All other defendants had pleaded guilty, some of them having changed their pleas to guilty during the trial.

The charge against the group was conducting fraudulent land deals, fake prize fights and wrestling matches, Mayor Bunch and Prosecutor Murphy's alleged part in the swindle being that they protected the swindlers from arrest and prosecution.

He arrived at Bagdad Nov. 5, and the next day flew without a stop to Bushire, 506 miles, in 6 hours 50 minutes. Nov. 7 he started for India, skirting the Persian gulf.

WOMAN SLUGS TAXIMAN WITH PADDED HAMMER

David Friedman, 4439 Calumet avenue, who owns several taxicabs and drives one, was slugged with a padded hammer late last night by a woman who, with a man escort, engaged him at Randolph and Clark streets to drive them to Evanston. The slugging took place on Sheridan road in Rogers Park. The couple left Friedman lying on the road and drove the cab away. Passing autoists notified the police and Friedman was taken to Alexian Brothers' hospital. He may die.

Highland Park Papils Strike for Holiday

Forty students of the Lincoln school at Highland Park decided to strike yesterday when the faculty refused to close the school in celebration of Armistice day. They turned their studies into football and it required the services of the truant officer and several members of the board of education to get them back to their classes.

CARRYING LOOT, ROUMANIA QUITS ROBBED HUNGARY

BUDAPEST, Nov. 9.—Delayed.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Roumanians have notified the allied commission officially that the Roumanian high commissioner at Budapest, Constantine Diamandy, intends to leave the city Tuesday; that the headquarters of Gen. Mardarescu, commander of the Roumanian troops in Budapest, will leave Wednesday, and the headquarters of Gen. Mosciu on Thursday. The evacuation of Budapest will be completed Friday.

The Czecho-Slovaks have informed the mission that their troops will evacuate the mines at Salgo-Tarjan, fifty-five miles northeast of Budapest, Tuesday.

The Roumanians are making the best of the last days of their occupation. There have been numerous "requisitions." Even burglaries are increasing and, according to the best information, Brig. Gen. Bandholtz, the American member of the commission, has made a protest to Gen. Mardarescu.

Report Large Sum Seized.

VIENNA, Monday, Nov. 10.—Special dispatches from Budapest report that the Roumanians have confiscated 240,000,000 crowns from the customs house there.

CHICAGO TO FEEL FIRST SHOCK OF WINTER'S COLD

The sharp teeth of winter are to be felt by Chicago today, with temperature 20 degrees above zero or lower tonight.

The cold sweeping the northern lake region and over western mountain and plain during the last twenty-four hours is scheduled to reach this city today.

"The western cold wave will advance eastward today over the middle Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and the western lake region, causing abnormally low temperature for the season of the year."

The straits of Mackinac were whipped into fury yesterday and last night by a winter gale that lashed Lakes Huron and Michigan. Large ore and grain boats are tied up at Mackinac City.

Builds His New Garage Around One 'Gold' Brick

Motorists passing Frank B. Green's new garage at 15 North Sheridan road, Highland Park, will notice a single "gold" brick in the front of the building.

Years ago Mr. Green invested $1,600 in a brick factory and when the smoke cleared away all he had left was one red brick, which he had used as a sample.

Several months ago he needed a garage, and built it around the brick that he had treasured. His friends heard the story and decorated the brick with gold paint.

BULLETS FELL WAR VETERANS; I. W. W. HANGED

BULLETIN.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 11.—A long distance telephone message from the Centralia Chronicle tonight says that the I. W. W. who was taken from the jail was escorted to the city limits and hanged to a bridge.

"The man's body is now hanging on a rope under the bridge about ten feet above the water," the telephone message said. "The I. W. W. man who was lynched was the one who shot Dale Hubbard."

Centralia, Wash., Nov. 11.—Four members of the American Legion, recently returned from long service in the American army abroad, were killed today when persons said to be members of the Industrial Workers of the World opened fire on an Armistice day parade in this city.

A number of other persons, nearly all of them overseas veterans, were wounded by the rain of bullets which swept the streets as the parade was ambushed. At least two of them are expected to die.

One Man Taken from Jail.

One man, said to have been a leader in the I. W. W., was taken from the jail by a crowd despite the efforts of the former soldiers to preserve order. He was shoved into an auto, taken outside of town, and presumably lynched.

Eight other I. W. W. members are being guarded in jail by former soldiers to prevent further lynchings.

List of Casualties.

GRIMM, WARREN, attorney and former University of Washington football star. Grimm last Thursday was elected commander of Grant Hodge post, American Legion, here. He had served almost a year in Siberia with the A. E. F.

McELFRESH, ARTHUR, who returned last May after sixteen months' service overseas with Company M, 161st infantry. He also had served with the national guard on the Mexican border.

HUBBARD, DALE, recently returned from service in France.

The wounded included:

WATT, JOHN EARL, Chehalis [not expected to live].

STEVENS, GEORGE, Centralia.

PHITZLER, JACOB, Centralia.

EUBANKS, E., Centralia.

Attack Without Warning.

The attack on the parade came without an instant's warning. The streets were lined with people as the marchers came forward with the overseas men in the vanguard. The veterans were on Tower avenue, Centralia's main street, and were passing the corner of Second avenue, where the I. W. W. hall is located, when the shooting began.

Many of the shots came from the roof of the building in which the I. W. W. headquarters is situated. Other shots came from the roof of buildings across the street and men on the sidewalks among the crowds drew weapons and began firing.

Grimm, leading a company of men, dropped in his tracks, mortally wounded. McElfresh, marching in the ranks, was killed instantly. Others, wounded, fell to the pavement. George Stevens of Centralia was shot when he attempted to take a gun away from an I. W. W. member standing on the sidewalk.

How Hubbard Was Shot.

Dale Hubbard gathered a small number of men and started in pursuit of an armed I. W. W.

The fugitive dashed down a side street, turning and shooting at the men as he ran. The pursuers, all unarmed, dodged behind telephone poles and trees to escape the bullets.

The party finally caught the man on the banks of the Skookumchuck river, a small stream which runs through the town. Hubbard and the man grappled, they said, and the supposed I. W. W.

A rope then was placed about the captured man's neck, thrown over the cross arm of a telephone pole, and he was hoisted into the air. Police persuaded the crowd to let the man down before he was dead and he was taken to jail.

Wreck I. W. W. Quarters.

Immediately after the shooting crowds in the street stormed the I. W. W. headquarters, tore out the front of the building, and made a bonfire of the furniture and literature found there.

They captured a number of suspects who were rushed to the jail. Other ex-service men, quickly arming themselves, began searching the country about and bringing in suspects.

In the headquarters of the I. W. W. was found a large supply of arms and ammunition.

The American Legion men, chief sufferers in the outrage, immediately began the protection of those suspected of being the ringleaders in the murderous attack. They surrounded and guarded the jail to keep away the mobs forming.

At 6:30 o'clock the crowd in front of the jail had swelled to between two and three hundred persons, including many from nearby towns. Frequent yells of "Lych them!" were heard.

Mob Attacks the Jail.

Late in the evening new arrivals swelled the mob and a vast crowd carrying ropes waited on all sides, held back by the former soldiers.

Suddenly all the lights in the town went out and shots were fired in the streets. Some of the mob slipped into the jail, took one of the suspects, and disappeared in an auto before the service men could stop them. It is thought they lynched the suspect.

Rumors of additional violence here were current late tonight. More than one citizen declared:

Help Comes from Outside.

At 11:30 o'clock tonight 100 American Legion men from Aberdeen, Montesano, and Hoquiam, arrived in automobiles to ascertain if they could be of assistance in preserving order.

T. C. Rogers, mayor of Centralia; A. C. Hughes, chief of police, and other citizens addressed the crowd in front of the jail tonight, asking the citizens not to attempt to lynch the prisoners.

Elmer E. Smith, an attorney, who had represented the I. W. W. in several cases in court here, was taken from the office by a crowd. He drew a revolver and attempted resistance, but was overpowered. Later he was placed in jail. Officers said they found inflammatory literature in his pockets.

RESULT OF OLD FIGHT.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 11.—Officials here tonight expressed belief that the Industrial Workers of the World attacked on the Armistice day parade at Centralia today was a counter move by the radicals in a fight being made against them by Centralia business men.

According to a story published in a Seattle labor organ Oct. 24, Centralia business men, meeting under the auspices of the Centralia Citizens' Protective league, recently opened a campaign to drive every radical from the city.

Several southwestern Washington lumbermen were prominent in the move, the story said. Every I. W. W. was to be listed and expected to leave the city, the article averred.

Militia Ordered Out.

Company F of the 3d Washington infantry was ordered to Centralia tonight by Gov. L. F. Hart. The company is said to be about seventy-five strong.

Brig. Gen. H. J. Moss, adjutant general of the state, said that sending of further troops would depend upon the situation at Centralia after arrival of Company F. Recently Gen. Moss said the entire state guard could be mobilized in a few hours if needed.

Two department of justice operatives left Seattle for Centralia to investigate the activities of the men under arrest there in connection with today's shooting. This announcement was made by R. C. Saunders, United States district attorney.

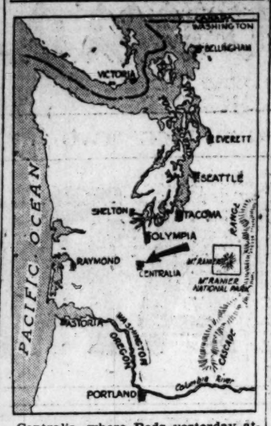
Second I. W. W. Disturbance.

Today's riot at Centralia was the second big I. W. W. disturbance in the Pacific northwest in recent years.

The first was in Everett, Wash., thirty miles north of here, on Nov. 15, 1916, when a boatload of Seattle I. W. W. attempted to "invade" Everett to help fellow members who had been barred from holding public meetings on certain Everett streets. Jeff Beard, Everett sheriff, and a number of men were at the dock when the I. W. W. arrived. Shooting followed and Beard and another Everett citizen and five I. W. W. were killed.

Industrial Workers of the World are considered strong in the Pacific northwest. Most of them are migratory workers, who find employment in the lumber camps in the northwest forests.

SCENE OF OUTRAGE



Centralia, where Reds yesterday attacked an Armistice day parade, is a town of about 8,000, approximately 100 miles south of Seattle, on the Pacific highway. It is the county seat of Lewis county.

Governor to Centralia.

Cheney, Wash., Nov. 11.—Deploring the killing of three men and the wounding of several others at Centralia by Industrial Workers of the World, but determined that there shall be no mob rule in Centralia, Gov. L. F. Hart tonight stated that he would leave Cheney for Olympia on the first train. The governor has been here inspecting the State Normal school.

The governor has instructed Adjt. Gen. Moss to hold the national guard of Washington in readiness for possible entrainment for Centralia.

Seize 60 I. W. W. in Portland.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 11.—Police tonight raided I. W. W. headquarters and took sixty men, who were attending a meeting, to the city jail for investigation. This raid was the immediate result of an order by Mayor George Baker to the police to round up all men suspected of being members of the I. W. W.

REDS ARE ARRAIGNED

New York, Nov. 11.—Eighteen of the thirty-seven radicals arrested in Saturday night's raids were arraigned in the Municipal court today on charges of violating the state's criminal anarchy statute. They were held in $5,000 bail each for examination tomorrow.

Five others were held on similar charges in a Brooklyn court. The remaining fourteen, who admitted that they came to this country as sailors, without passing the immigration department examinations, were released upon their promise to pay the $8 head tax.

The charges against the men held set forth that they are members of the communist party, which believes in the overthrow of government by force.

Refuses to Reduce Bail.

At the hearing Magistrate McAdoo said:

"I hold that the communist party has declared a state of war against the United States and the government of the state of New York, and that the establishment of the communist party in the state of New York is the highest crime known to our law, and I will not reduce the bail one dollar."

Mr. Recht, attorney for the prisoners, said we were not legally at war with Russia.

"Who killed the 111 American soldiers whose bodies are being brought back from Russia?" the magistrate demanded.

The attorney shrugged his shoulders.

"I don't know," he replied.

Served Only Eleven Days.

Recht did that quickly, making a plea that the bail in the case of Moses Zimmerman be reduced, as he "is an ex-service man."

Zimmerman was interrogated by the magistrate and said that he had been drafted, but served only eleven days because his heart was weak, and he was discharged on account of his physical condition. The magistrate, declined to reduce the bail.

A 1,500 word "proclamation," issued by an organization calling itself the "American Anarchist Federated Commune Soviets," urging workers to a general strike was distributed through the mails in this city tonight. The document advocated in so many words the overthrow of the government through formation of "workers' battalions."

UNION, BEATEN IN WRIT FIGHT, GIRDS FOR NEW DRIVE

Accept Secretary Wilson Bid for Conference in Capital Friday.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—The way for the final adjustment of the controversy between the bituminous coal operators and the United Mine Workers of America, which resulted in a strike of 420,000 union miners and action by the government in the federal court, appeared in sight tonight.

While the representatives of the miners, who earlier in the day had agreed to comply with the mandate of United States District Judge A. B. Anderson and late today mailed an order rescinding the strike, were discussing the future policy of the organization, telegrams were received from Secretary of Labor Wilson and Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the operators' scale committee, by John L. Lewis, acting president of the miners, inviting the miners' representatives into a conference.

Miners Agree to Conference.

Mr. Lewis, on behalf of the mine workers, accepted the invitation of Secretary Wilson to meet the bituminous operators of the country in Washington next Friday morning at 11 o'clock, and replied to Mr. Brewster, who requested a meeting of the central competitive scale committee with the operators of the district in Washington, D. C., Monday, Nov. 17, "to negotiate a contract to be in force upon the termination of the contract now in effect," that the miners already had accepted the invitation of Mr. Wilson.

William Green, secretary-treasurer of the union, said every district in the United States would be represented at the conference Friday, from the state of Washington to Maryland.

Although the strike has been called off court action in the strike case has not been completed by any means. The miners' attorneys are preparing their writ of error with a view to appealing the case to the United States circuit court of appeals and expect to file their petition for this step within the next two or three days.

Judge Pleased With Order.

The recall order previously had been submitted to the court, who characterized it as a "good faith effort" to comply with the court's mandate.

This was after the general committee of the miners, composed of international officials, district presidents and members of the executive board and scale committee had been in sesion approximately eighteen hours and at 4:10 this morning decided to comply with the mandate of the court.

From the standpoint of the government, the miners themselves are not absolved from further obedience to the court's injunction through withdrawal of the strike order and unless the case is dismissed, injunction writs served on more than sixty of the United Mine Workers' officials are returnable before Dec. 2.

PLEDGE TO LABOR VIOLATED BY U. S., A. F. OF L. REPEATS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor, after a special meeting today, gave our this statement:

"The executive council notes the fact that in the statement issued by Attorney General Palmer, which, beyond doubt, was called forth by the statement issued by the executive council at its meeting Sunday, Nov. 9, and published in the newspapers Monday, Nov. 10, that the attorney general evades in the main not only the declarations of principle involved in the restraining order and the mandatory features of the injunction issued by Judge Anderson but that Mr. Palmer wholly ignores the assertion made by the executive council that a pledge was made by the government officials and by members of congress that the Lever act was never intended to apply to the activities of wage earners engaged in any strike or lockout relative to wages, hours, and condition of employment, and that the Lever act would not be applied by the government to wage earners engaged in such activities.

"The attorney general evades and ignores the broken pledge and bad faith of the administration in respect to these facts."

TOLD TO BORROW $2,000 TO REPAY SCRUBWOMAN

Judge Hayes in the South Clark street police station yesterday ordered Harry B. Alm to go out and borrow money to pay Mrs. Anna C. Gustafson, a 62 year old scrubwoman. The aged woman, too weak to stand, sat in a chair before the judge. Twenty-six years pushing a mop in the county treasurer's office some time ago culminated in an illness that sent her to the county hospital, from which she recently emerged. Her daughter, Edith, succeeded to the scrubbing.

According to the Gustafsons' story, Alm first borrowed $250 from Mrs. Gustafson with which to go into business. This was followed by other loans until the debt totaled $2,200. Last month a judgment of $2,000 was obtained against him, but nothing has been realized.

After the judge's mandate yesterday, Alm went out, climbed in his auto, and drove away.

"I'm working day and night to pay this money back," he said later.

Barbers Now Threaten to Go Out on Strike

Barbers' union, local No. 548, held a meeting last night and decided to strike Monday if their demand for more pay is not met. Arthur B. Raymond, secretary of the union, says they want $25 a week and 65 per cent of all over $35 they take in. They now get $23 and 50 per cent.

graphed to Acting President Lewis at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Telegram to Lewis.

"Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.

"Prompt resumption of negotiations imperative in the public interests. Will you and your scale committee meet the scale committee of the operators of the central competitive field at Washington Monday, Nov. 17, to negotiate a contract to be in force upon the termination of the contract now in effect?"

Brewster's telegram referred, of course, only to the central competitive field affected by the original demands of the miners. Secretary Wilson's proposal later, however, extends the invitation for negotiation to all the union fields, and the government plan is to negotiate new agreements for all the miners in twenty-seven of the twenty-eight coal districts that participated in the strike.

Palmer Is Gratified.

Attorney General Palmer was manifestly gratified at the action of the mine workers' leaders.

"I have been assuming," he said, "that the miners' organization would obey the law when it was called to their attention in the way it has been, and I am glad that they justified that assumption. The way is now open to a settlement by peaceful processes, which should always be employed in settlement of such disputes without injury to the general public."

In the midst of demands of senators for a congressional investigation of the coal strike and the injunction proceedings the senate received word of the cancellation of the strike order.

Senator Pomerene, Ohio, Democrat, read to the senate a press dispatch telling the decision of the strike leaders to call the strike off. The senator approved their decision; he considered some of their grievances just and predicted these would be met.

UNITY OF ENGLISH SPEAKING PEOPLE URGED BY JUDSON

Unity of English speaking peoples and furtherance of the use of the English language were urged last night by Harry Pratt Judson of the University of Chicago at a meeting in the home of Julian B. Arnold, 1229 East Fiftieth street. Mr. Arnold is a son of Sir Edwin Arnold, the English poet.

Mr. Judson declared the peace and progress of the world can "be largely helped by a unity in purpose of the English speaking democracies." He advised promoting a "good understanding between the peoples of the United States of America and Great Britain."

Maj. George H. Putman of New York, secretary-treasurer of the English Speaking union, presided. Maj. Putman explained the purpose of the meeting was to organize a Chicago branch of the union, which came into existence in London on July 4, 1918.

William Howard Taft is president of the American and A. J. Balfour of the British branch. Contributions to the "publication and propaganda fund were solicited."

The drawing room in which the meeting was held was decorated with the British colors. An American flag was entwined with the union jack over the presiding officer's seat.

MANY MINERS TO WAIT NEW WAGE BEFORE WORKING

$1,031,983,000 Added to Coal Bill if Full Demand Is Paid.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

"We are hoping for an early settlement, but as I said before we will strike until hell freezes over, but what our demands are dealt fairly with by the operators."

This is from Fred Neighbors of Virden, Ill., who has standing as a man in his community. He is also respected and trusted by his fellow miners, having been a delegate to the Cleveland convention which formulated the miners' request. It is typical of oral statements of coal diggers in central Illinois.

True, it was printed before the action calling off the strike yesterday, but Chicago operators made no secret of their opinion yesterday that Neighbors' view is duplicated among many miners. Neighbors is for the government and against the bolsheviki movement but he wants more income, and the operators do not expect full normal operation of the mines until there is an agreement upon a new wage scale.

Willing to Give Raise.

The operators have never said that the miners are unworthy of a salary boost. They are willing to give it, give as much as the public will stand in larger coal bills.

And it is a safe bet there will be an increase in wages if the operators and miners alone settle their differences. But the federal government is a factor in the situation. The purchasing agents of the railroads under Director General Hines have convinced the operators that he is opposed to a wage increase to the miners, or perhaps more directly stated, is opposed to permitting the railroads to pay more for coal.

The significance of this is apparent when it is known that the railroads use between 30 and 40 per cent of all the coal taken from the mines. It has been reckoned by the operators that the miners' demands will add $300,000,000 to the cost of coal annually to the railroads.

Favors U. S. Commission.

The one big thing which the operators now desire is a commission by the federal government to determine the exact facts in the industry, and give them to the public.

This they want, despite their opinion that the mines will not operate full blast until the wage dispute is settled. Some of the miners are expected to work, others will not. Some viewed the start of the governmental action as a court contest over a technicality. They said the war was over for the mine owners to charge any price they desired for coal, but because peace had not been officially proclaimed the war was not over when they wanted to make additional charge for their labor. The inequity of this soured many coal diggers.

Furthermore, there are fundamental defects in the coal industry which the miners would like to have corrected. They believe, with some foundation, there are too many mines, some of which operate principally during the peak demand for coal annually. That leaves the miners idle too much of the time during the year.

Lack of Cars Cited.

Then another disadvantage of the coal industry is the lack of railroad cars, especially when there is a demand for coal. That prevents an industrious miner from working many days.

A third major defect from the miners' viewpoint is that labor contracts have always expired heretofore on April 1. On that date the demand for coal is small and operators who have not sold all the coal they can mine are sometimes indifferent to whether the miners strike April 1.

Also be it not overlooked that the revocation of the strike order did not request the miners to return to work pending negotiations or arbitration.

Many to Stay Out.

With these ideas in mind and a payday next Saturday, many miners will stick by their demands and hold off from work until their cash has vanished or a wage agreement has been reached.

These demands will add $1 031,983 000 annually to the country's soft coal bill, according to an estimate of the operators of the central competitive field.

In doing the estimating the calculators have reckoned that the wage increase and working conditions demanded will add an average of $2 per ton to the cost of coal. In Illinois alone the wage demand is placed at $85,796,818, which is larger than any other state except Pennsylvania, where the total runs in excess of $161,000,000. These enormous figures were obtained Monday and were taken yesterday to the local coal statistician for verification. He said they are fair estimates. Of the total increased costs in Illinois, domestic consumers will pay $19,442,900 more and the industries, excluding railroads, $46,122,770.

Nearly Double Operators' Costs.

To give a layman a measure of the figures, let it be recited that the operators claim that it now costs about $2.35 a ton in southern Illinois and $2.90 in northern Illinois to get the coal out of the mines and into the railroad cars ready for shipment. The figures above represent $2 more.

It has been suggested by a cabinet member that the miners be given a percentage increase equal to the increased cost of living. That means 25 per cent over present wages.

For the consumer this means an increase in coal prices. A trustworthy authority said that for each 1 per cent added to wages means roughly 2 per cent added to the cost of coal production. That will be added by the mine operator and again added by the city seller that the consumer may not escape the final payment.

COAL OPERATORS, SKEPTICAL, WAIT MINERS' RETURN

Assert Lewis Didn't Order Men Back in Ending Strike.

"It isn't over yet. President Lewis of the coal miners rescinded the strike order, but he didn't order the men back to work. It now is a personal matter with every miner whether he'll work or not. The radicals will try to induce him to refuse to work."

With this statement Dr. F. C. Honnold of the mine operators' association summed up yesterday his view of the situation resultant from the government's injunction pressure on the mine strike leaders.

"I believe some men will go to work," he added, "but I would not wish to make an estimate of the number. The operators are ready. They have blown the whistles for work each day. Any mine that can get a force capable of operating will resume coal production within three days, I should say."

Sit Tight and Wait.

A canvass of Chicago offices of operators revealed that Dr. Honnold voiced the general opinion. Meanwhile the regional coal committee let it be known that it had no intention of abandoning supervision of the coal reserve.

"We don't know when the mines will resume operation," said T. W. Proctor, chairman of the committee, "so we are going to sit tight and continue to supervise the distribution of coal. In any event it would require at least a week after the mines resume capacity operation for us to clean the slate. We have heard nothing from Washington, so as far as the northwest regional coal committee is concerned the situation is unchanged."

Harding Lauds Committee.

The committee distributed 1,129 cars of coal during the day, 319 of which were allotted to Chicago.

Gov. William L. Harding of Iowa, whose appeals for coal for Iowa created the impression that state was suffering for lack of fuel, called on Mr. Proctor to say:

"Everything's fine and we wish to thank the committee for the way it has handled the situation."

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

[Washington Bureau of The Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.

THE United Mine Workers having called off the coal strike, the government has taken steps to bring about immediate negotiations which will result in an adjustment of their differences with the mine operators. Secretary of Labor Wilson has summoned all parties concerned in the coal controversy to Washington for an adjustment conference on Friday. It was declared that the government will insist upon formulation of a new agreement.

THE war department announced the two thousandth resignation from the officers' staff of the regular army since fighting ceased in Europe a year ago. A coast artillery captain's resignation, made necessary by low pay, smaller than that received by a government bricklayer, brought the total to 2,000.

THE expected vote on the reservation to Article 10 of the league covenant failed to materialize in the senate today and the present prospect is that a final vote on the peace treaty is still far off.

REPRESENTATIVE GRAHAM, head of the house war department investigating committee, in a preliminary report declares that millions of dollars might be recovered by the government in a review of war claims adjusted by the war department.

H. C. L. SNIPES OFF 2,000TH OFFICER IN REGULAR ARMY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Secretary Baker tonight announced the resignation of the two thousandth regular army officer since the end of hostilities one year ago.

This demonstration that the high cost of living and the inadequate pay are rapidly demoralizing the regular personnel, was made public without any comment as to what the war department purposes to do about it.

The resignation was that of Capt. Edward Canfield Jr., coast artillery, a graduate of West Point. After temporarily serving as colonel he was returned to the rank of captain with smaller pay than that drawn by government brick layers here.

ARMISTICE DAY IS OBSERVED BY ENTIRE NATION

Cities, Hamlets Honor Those Who Died for Liberty.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—Armistice day exercises were carried out in Washington despite a drizzling rain which began in the early morning and continued during the day. Many of the arranged events of celebration were held inside in departments and bureaus.

Reports here tell of celebrations in every city and hamlet of the United States.

At the anniversary hour, 11 o'clock, the rattle of musketry from the army firing platoon formally announced that two memorial California redwood trees were in place in Lafayette square. They were banked by earth brought from many states and with memorial documents to be sheltered for years beneath their roots.

SOLEMN DAY IN BRITAIN.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Great Britain today celebrated the first anniversary of "Armistice day" with impressive ceremonies. The foremost and striking of these came in response to the appeal of King George to commemorate the event by a universal simultaneous suspension of activity throughout the country and the observance of silence for two minutes at the moment corresponding with the signing of the armistice—the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month.

The orders for silence and the standing at attention for two minutes, which were prescribed by the British navy, were adopted by all the American warships in British waters.

Services in France.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The first anniversary of Armistice day was celebrated today at the Chapel Invalides with a solemn mass in memory of those who gave their lives in the world war. Marshal Foch, Gen. Pau, and many maimed soldiers were present. A choir composed of war orphans sang the Te Deum.

FIGHT WON, SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION WILL END, MRS. CATT SAYS

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 11.—The liberation of women from the "thralldom in which custom, law, and public opinion bound them," virtually is accomplished, according to an address of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, read at the formal opening of the convention of the National Council of Women here tonight.

Mrs. Catt, who is president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, was unable to attend.

As the work of the suffrage association practically is finished, Mrs. Catt asserted, it probably would dissolve at its convention in Chicago next February and be displaced by the League of Women Voters, "whose aim is to stimulate more intelligent citizenship and higher political ideals."

"In view of the momentous changes I suggest that the council mark the close of the period now drawing to an end by dropping the woman suffrage committee, and in its stead establish a committee on good citizenship."

PRINTERS QUIT, SO PARIS PRESS GETS OUT 1 NEWSPAPER

Five million copies had been distributed by 10 a. m. and it was expected that by noon 6,000,000 would be delivered. This is a new circulation record. The Petit Parisien presses were used.

Four Arrested on Liquor Selling Charges

James Cheromokos, brother of the proprietor of the Athenia hotel, 1521 North Clark street, and John Miller, employé of the Righeimer hotel, 80 West Van Buren street, were held yesterday on charges of selling liquor in hotel rooms. James Bugas, 5559 West Sixty-third street, camouflaged his stock as "root beer," agents say, and Tony Freagias, 740 South Halsted street, was caught selling plain whisky.

STARS OF GOLD GLEAM ANEW FOR HUSHED MINUTE

Chicago's Armistice Day Runs Gamut from Din to Silent Tribute.

Chicago gave sixty seconds of its life yesterday to the memory of the soldier boys who "went west" and to the creation of a new national holiday—Armistice day.

Millions dropped factory, office, and household duties for one minute and turned their faces toward Europe in prayerful memory of the gold star men.

The sobering effect of the minute's thought was reflected at night, when thousands gathered in Grant park to witness a display of fireworks. Michigan boulevard crowds refused to buy feather ticklers, horns of confetti which vendors sought to start hilarity.

From the front of practically every Michigan avenue skyscraper huge crosses of white light glowed out over the park. These illuminations were provided with simple ingenuity by turning on office lights behind the windows that formed the designs. The spectacle seemed to silence the crowd.

Pershing Stirs Cheers.

Only twice were there signs of the original armistice day delirium—once a huge American Legion emblem blazed forth and again Gen. Pershing's rugged features were etched in fire against the sky. An American flag brought enthusiastic applause.

While the riotous scenes of a year ago were but memories yesterday, it was Memorial day, Fourth of July, and Christmas rolled into one. Thousands wore the khaki or blue to work and loop sidewalks took on the color of 1918. Before 10 o'clock whistles, sirens, bells, and cannon began to sound the "alert." Promptly at 11 the hush fell.

Judges in courtrooms, prisoners in jails, children in schoolrooms, clerks, executives, laborers, and housekeepers all turned east with bowed heads as the hour of the anniversary of the signing of the armistice arrived.

At 11:01 scattered bands broke into the national anthem. Heads were bared, the military stood at attention, and by 11:02 the heartfelt cheering was rising from a great chorus.

In La Salle street and other downtown thoroughfares baskets of torn paper were thrown from windows and came swirling down into the streets, reminders of another scrap of paper." Ticker tape came down in long snarls and windings.

Red Cross Is Big Gainer.

But the pranks of the merrymakers did not hold the attention of the public for long. Scores of meetings, attended by "those who served," turned more sober-faced pedestrians into the streets. Their spirit was registered on the Red Cross roll call for 1919, which was swelled by many thousands of dollars as Chicagoans "paused to THINK."

Gatherings of ex-service men reunited many who had not met since their return to the states.

Maj. Gen. John A. Le Jeune of the Marine corps, who commanded the 2d division of heroic fame, spent Armistice day in Chicago shaking the hands of hundreds who served under him.

The James G. Brophy post of the American Legion celebrated the day with a dinner and smoker at the Iroquois club. At the speakers' table were Judge Joseph B. David, Dr. George F. James, educational director of the A. E. F., and others.

"For my part," said Judge David, "I believe that every agitator against the government should be taken up with the dirty rags in which he came to this country and sent back to the poverty-stricken land whence he came."

Landis Refers to Berger.

Judge Landis talked to 300 wounded men in the Red Cross Hostess house at Fort Sheridan last night as a part of the Armistice day exercises. About 150 were members of the American Legion. Touching on the Berger case, Judge Landis said:

"It was in my court that Berger was convicted. If anybody has any doubt about Berger's guilt, let him come and see me."

WETS IN LEAD; OHIO DRYS ASK FOR A RECOUNT

Majority of 641 Against Amendment in Latest Figures.

Columbus, O., Nov. 11.—While a complete recheck of the official county returns may make slight changes in the final result, neither wet nor dry leaders expect the final majority to vary much from the 641 majority given the wets against the federal prohibition amendment as indicated by the official returns reported by the counties.

Practically all the county returns have been rechecked and only a few apparent errors discovered. These may not prove to be errors when the local boards have rechecked their returns.

The official vote as reported from the counties without taking into consideration the apparent errors discovered by the recheck was: For ratification, 459,879; against ratification, 500,520, giving the wets a majority of 641 against the proposal.

Allowing for the apparent errors, the wet majority would be reduced to 546. There are eight counties yet to be verified.

Halts Kentucky Hearing.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 11.—On the eve of arguments on a suit to test constitutionality of the war-time prohibition law and the Volstead enforcement act in federal district court, United States District Attorney W. V. Gregory announced today that he tomorrow would resist attempts to secure the hearing prior to adjudication of much the same issues in a previous action fixed for argument in the United States Supreme court Nov. 20.

In Final Court Nov. 20.

Washington, D. C., Nov 11.—November 20 was set by the Supreme court today as the time for hearing arguments on the government's appeal from federal court decisions in Kentucky holding the war-time prohibition act unconstitutional. The government had asked that the case be expedited.

Wine and Song in Car Lead to Arrest of Four

The freight car was loaded with wine and song. The policemen heard the song and arrested four men—Andrew Drunse, 718 East Ninety-third street; William Snow, 840 East Ninety-third street; Joseph Stromback, 1419 East Ninety-first street, and Walter Flenski, 9326 Bennett avenue.

Apparently they had come to steal the wine kegs and had become intoxicated after tapping one. Drunse said he was a Pole and admitted he had been in the United States nine years and didn't wish to be a citizen. He desires to go back home when he has money enough. He was ordered taken before Immigration Inspector H. R. Landis for deportation.

And now the police are going to find out, if they can, just why the wine was in the car, who sent it, and to whom it was sent.

PARIS INTRIGUES MAKE AMERICA GOAT FOR WORLD

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Wireless.]
(Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.)

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The United States—which has been made the goat of all the peace conference bulls and errors—is now being blamed for breaking up the whole show because the American delegates want to be home for Christmas.

President Wilson and Frank Polk are being charged with failing in their duty toward humanity in not continuing the present Paris conference until every question in the world has been answered and every problem solved.

Fall Guys for Allies.

Since the conference convened last December the American delegates have been the fall guys for the allied diplomats. President Wilson's address to the Italian people was blamed upon him solely, although both Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau egged him on to send it. Then the Shantung award was laid on President Wilson's shoulders solely, although both France and Great Britain were pledged to back up the Japanese claims.

More recently, the Roumanian and Hungarian troubles were charged to Mr. Polk, although the Americans have only continually insisted to the supreme council that if Roumania is permitted to defy the peace conference, other powers would follow suit, including Germany.

America the "Quitter."

Now that it is practically officially announced that the American peace commission is going home early in December at the latest, America is being called for "quitting." Touching pictures of world suffering humanity are drawn, which America insisted on getting home for the holidays to prevent being righted.

The British favor letting the peace conference die a natural death—in fact, it was Mr. Lloyd George who first suggested it. Italy protested when the Austrian and Bulgarian treaties were still incomplete. The Italians professed to want to continue the supreme council's sittings right straight through a negotiation of the Turkish treaty.

The American position is that the Bulgarian treaty will be signed within ten days—that the Hungarian treaty is completed and ready to hand over to the Hungarians—and that the remaining questions can be dealt with by ambassadors and their foreign offices.

The Americans insist that the Russian question can not be brought up before the supreme council, as it is entirely outside their principles and is a subject for the heads of their governments.

In the Near East.

The Turkish, Thracian, and Adriatic questions there is no present means of solving, and neither France nor Great Britain is ready to begin negotiations upon these subjects at the present time.

America is being charged with holding up these decisions, but this is merely camouflage, as other powers have been consistently stalling on all these problems from the very first, apparently trying to tire out the Americans.

The investiture will be celebrated at solemn high mass in St. Ambrose church.

PEKING, Wednesday, Nov. 5.—[By the Associated Press.]—Official denial is given reports that the Chinese government contemplates opening direct negotiations with Japan over the restoration of Tsing-Tau. RAILROAD BILL MAY SUPPLANT PACT IN SENATE

More Important, Belief; No Progress Made on Covenant.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The senate today made scarcely any progress toward final disposition of the peace treaty and doubt continued to grow whether the fight over the pact would reach a conclusion at the present session of congress.

With the conviction gaining ground that the railroad question is more important than the treaty, many senators believe if the present deadlock continues until the end of the session the treaty will be sidetracked in December to make way for the Cummins railroad bill.

Practically all of today's session was taken up in speeches by Democratic senators, who voted in caucus last Friday to support a rigid cloture, curtailing treaty debate to the minimum. The subjects under discussion were President Wilson's fourteen points and why the United States entered the war.

Democrats Dodge a Showdown.

There seemed to be some reluctance on the Democratic side to face a showdown on the pending Walsh amendment to the Lodge reservation on article X. The amendment would materially strengthen the reservation by releasing all other nations from any obligation toward the United States and to keep the United States out of any participation in the league council under article X. that Wilson called the "heart of the covenant."

Administration leaders were rather disconcerted to find that the Walsh amendment might carry and be embodied in the Lodge program.

Boomerang to Democrats.

Senator McNary of Oregon, one of the "mild reservationists," approached Senator Hitchcock and assured him if the Walsh amendment were adopted with Democratic votes it would never be expunged from the Lodge program with "mild reservation" votes. They would support the reservation, even if it contained the Walsh amendment, Senator McNary said.

WOMAN SOUGHT IN MURDER OF AGED RECLUSE

Danville, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—A woman is being sought by Vermilion county authorities as a participant in the murder of Sabina Cummings, wealthy recluse widow of Hoopeston, now believed to have been robbed of $10,000 in cash which she had secreted in trunks, articles of furniture, and the grandfather's clock.

The woman, said to have been acquainted with Mrs. Cummings, was introduced into the case tonight when it became known that some of the finger print impressions obtained by the Urbana police department were those of a feminine hand. Whether she is in Danville or Hoopeston could not be learned.

However, the case is rapidly approaching a climax. The authorities believe the murderers will have been identified by the reopening of the coroner's inquest Saturday.

TRAIN CITIZENS TO REPEL FOES, LEGION DEMANDS

Another Vote Calls for Deportation of Victor Berger of Wisconsin.

BY CHARLES M'ARTHUR.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Americanism was the dominant note in the convention proceedings of the American Legion today—Americanism with a kick.

Indorsement of universal military training, with a small standing army and no compulsory military service in time of peace, was voted enthusiastically tonight by the convention. It was recommended that the national citizen army be under local control and administration, subject to general national regulations.

A message of sympathy, with the hope for his speedy recovery, was sent tonight to President Wilson.

Would Deport Berger.

A resolution to disfranchise and deport Victor Berger of Wisconsin, a Socialist, who was unseated by the house of representatives, when only one congressman voted in his favor, was adopted amid cheers by the convention. The resolution was seconded by the Wisconsin delegation. It reads:

"Whereas, Victor Berger has been duly tried and convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude and disloyalty to our country;

"Therefore, be it resolved that the American Legion, in convention assembled, hereby demands that the proper authorities take all legal steps to cancel his citizenship papers and bring about his deportation."

The Berger resolution was adopted unanimously.

Similar treatment was advocated for Representative Edward Voigt of Wisconsin, who cast the lone vote for Berger, but after a hot discussion it was amended and only congressional investigation of his record was demanded.

Delegates Bow in Prayer.

The proceedings were fast and dramatic, a spiritual climax was reached just before 11 o'clock, when the delegates rose and stood in silent prayer. For one moment they reached the spectacular when Chaplain Coonley of New Jersey presented the American flag that was carried over Vimy ridge by an American in a Canadian regiment on the day the United States declared war. Following these emotional touches, the convention began to fight.

The convention voted to have the national headquarters at Indianapolis. Indiana delegates contended that it would be an antidote for radicalism. Cleveland was selected as the next convention city.

A proposal to make members of the allied armies eligible to membership, on application, was defeated because that would admit Russians.

Illinois Delegates Lead.

Illinois delegates led the scrap against the surrender of the Legion to politicians, a fight that lasted for more than an hour, and resulted in the enactment of bylaws preventing those holding salaried elective offices from becoming officers in any Legion headquarters or post.

Colonel Foreman and State Secretary Earle B. Searcy tried to amend the ruling to admit judges and other office holders in small towns, when such men had been instrumental in organizing posts. The convention, however, thinking it savored of politics, voted that measure down.

Clash on Another Point.

Illinois was the center of another controversy just before adjournment, when Mr. Searcy and George G. Seaman of Taylorville fought to amend the proposed eligibility and leave the matter to the national committee instead of state organizations of the Legion.

Col. Milton J. Foreman today threw his delegation over to Pennsylvania for the election of Francis D'Oller as national commander. The election will take place tomorrow.

British Warships Help Letts Drive Germans Back.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 11.—Helsingfors cables the northwest Russian army has started a big drive against Gatchina. The Bolsheviks are counter attacking furiously, but the Whites have driven the Reds back.

BY ARTHUR E. MANN.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]
[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

REVAL, Nov. 10, via London, Nov. 11.—The bolshevik troops continue to advance. They are now approaching Yamburg, which is only sixteen miles from Yudenitch's base and headquarters at Narva. There is considerable doubt if the White Russians will be able to hold the former town. Between there and Narva there is no place where Yudenitch could make a good stand.

Los of Yamburg also would be serious, as it is full of hospitals and now is holding thousands of wounded whom it would be difficult to transport to Narva, even if accommodation could be found for all of them at the latter place.

Letts Drive Germans.

Lettish troops, supported by the guns of British destroyers, started an offensive from the mouth of the Dwina river yesterday westward up the coast and captured the village of Dubbeln. This firmly secures their right flank.

The British destroyer Libau shot down a German aeroplane on Nov. 6. On the same day German troops from Preckuln began to advance toward Libau, but the Letts, under cover of the fire of British ships, repulsed them.

The Germans across the river from Riga have been bombarding that city again. They have severely damaged one side of the British mission, and yesterday dropped a shell on the roof.

Since the Lettish attack began the American Red Cross has been busy with ambulance calls.

Reds Stopped in Siberia.

OMSK, Nov. 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—The advance of the bolsheviki has been held up along the Ishim river at Petropavlovsk. Both sides are seemingly reforming for a new series of battles, which probably will occur in the near future this side of Ishim.

Freezing weather, accompanied by a considerable snowfall, makes severe the plight of the civilian refugees and the sick and wounded. The American Red Cross has removed many hospital patients to awaiting trains and hopes to evacuate the hospital within the next two days. The railway personnel and the Red Cross personnel, with the exception of doctors and nurses who accompany the sanitary trains, will leave Omsk aboard the train of Ernest Harris, American consul general, should conditions become acute here. The American hospital is going to Irkutsk.

Admiral Kolchak yesterday informed Consul General Harris of his intention to continue the struggle against the bolsheviki, saying he was not discouraged by the present reverses, nor is he counting on outside assistance. He expressed gratitude for American assistance and particularly emphasized his appreciation of the work of the Red Cross.

SKULL BROKEN BY CREW IN TRANSFER BATTLE, CHARGE

Joseph Ulma, 157 West Huron street, was kicked off a North State street car by the crew and his skull fractured by a blow of the motorman's controller, according to the story he told Sergt. Hellman in Passavant hospital last night.

The fight occurred after a row over a transfer. Ulma works at the Illinois Steel plant and got off a No. 5 car at Randolph street and Wabash avenue. Being unfamiliar with the street car rules, he walked to State street, instead of taking a No. 1 car. The conductor refused to take his transfer. He paid another fare and sat down near the back door.

After the car had gone a block or so, Ulma says, the conductor reached in and struck him. He responded and the conductor called the motorman and they threw him off. While he was lying in the street, the two jumped off and the motorman wielded his controller, Ulma says. He picked himself up and went home, but got so ill that a police ambulance was called.

LITHUANIA AND POLAND AGREE TO HOLD PARLEY

BY AXEL MOOS.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 11.—The Lithuanian legation wires from Kovno that the English, American, and French representatives in Kovno have succeeded in making an agreement with the Lithuanian government, which now is willing to send delegates to a conference in which Polish delegates also will take part to settle Polish-Lithuanian questions. At the same time, a commission to discuss war damages will be formed.

Bermondt Avaloff has wired the Lithuanian government if it would take up peace negotiations. The government has answered that it regards Bermondt as a plunderer and highwayman.

The Germans are continuing to send aid to Bermondt—both soldiers and ammunition. Every day almost 400 men are crossing the border.

Yesterday several English men of war arrived in the harbor of Copenhagen. Today a mother ship for airplanes also anchored. All the ships soon will leave for the Baltic sea.

In making the announcement, Mr. Baldesi declared himself strongly opposed to any soviet form of government, but asserted he was not in sympathy with the attempt of the allies to force a definite form of government on Russia.

GIVE BACK LINES, PUBLIC DEMAND, ESCH DECLARES

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Whatever sentiment there may have existed in congress for government ownership of the railroads appears to be dead.

In the house today Chairman Esch of the interstate and foreign commerce committee, who reported the railroad bill bearing his name, said there was popular demand for return of the railroads to private owners as early as possible, and popular opposition to any plan of operation of the lines by the railroad workers, under any scheme of public ownership.

Has Another Scheme.

Representative Sims of Tennessee said he later may present a substitute bill, hoping to delay the return, and offering a scheme for government ownership of rights of way and other physical properties of the roads, with private operation under lease or some other plan.

Mr. Sims said railroad executives were a union, and added:

"If any one wants these $100,000 presidents let them pay for such out of their own pockets. Hines gets but $25,000 and he is running all the railroads of the country efficiently and economically."

Mr. Sims will offer an amendment to limit railroad executives' salaries to $20,00 as the maximum chargeable to operating expenses. He said higher salaries unduly increase rates.

"Let the rest of the salary be paid out of net income," he said. "Don't talk of putting handcuffs on the workers who get $4, $5, or $6 a day when these officials get $100 a day."

Other Changes to Be Asked.

Among other amendments to be proposed to the Esch bill during its consideration in the house are the following:

Preventing interstate commerce commission control over water carriers by requiring such carriers to build docks and placing all docks, including private and public docks, under the commissions as terminals.

Depriving the interstate commerce commission of proposed authority over water carriers by permitting the commission to control the minimum rate of water carriers in joint rates with rail lines.

The pending bill, it is charged, would perpetuate railroad owned water lines, and grants to the interstate commerce commission additional authority to permit the railroads to extend further their water service.

Hats of Fur and Rich Fabrics
Are Specially Priced at $15

This is the sort of hat most in demand just now. It strikingly accents the fur wrap or fur-trimmed suit, and perfectly complements the more formal costume.

Charmingly Irregular and Youthful in Line

Are these hats in which are combined soft furs with lustrous, deep-toned velvets or brilliant metal tissues, often softened by Malines. In the trimmings one senses that deft touch associated with hats at a much higher pricing.

There are little caps of fur and silver—stunning turbans, skillfully draped. Small roll-brimmed hats with vividly colored crowns.

Hats strikingly lovely with wide becoming brims of metal lace or filmy Malines in pictorial effect are also included. And in all is evidenced that discriminating sense of type which means exactly the right hat for each particular woman.

FARMERS ASSAIL UNION EFFORTS AS BLOW TO THEM

Favor Organization, but Attack Greed and Lawlessness.

Organized labor and its demands for shorter working hours and higher pay were assailed as unpatriotic, greedy and un-American in resolutions presented yesterday at the aunal meeting of the National Association of Commissioners of Agriculture at the Auditomium hotel.

At the evening meeting a more conciliatory spirit was evident, and although the effort of unions to increase their power by means of the closed shop was attacked, the resolutions as finally adopted eliminated much of the more bitter attack.

The original document contained the statement that "radical demands of labor are leading straight to a revolution and toward a government not of the people but of one class, many of whom are unable to speak our language or understand the spirit of our American institutions." This finally was deleted.

Representatives of the farmers in every state in the union were present.

Predicts Lower Prices.

David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture, the principal speaker of the day, predicted that the high prices of American food would disappear as England began to draw upon her colonies for sustenance.

"England has been cut off from her colonies for two years and has called upon the United States and Canada for food," he said. "Now she will begin to import food from Australia, New Zealand, and her eastern colonies. This will cause the price of food here to drop. Central Europe will have to endure hardships before next fall's crops are ready for consumption, however."

Various Resolutions Adopted.

Among the resolutions adopted in addition to the one on labor, were others denouncing the profiteer, indorsing the farm loan act, deploring strikes and lockouts, and urging the farmers to join one central association for the protection of their interests.

The resolution on labor as finally adopted read:

"Whereas, It is currently reported that union leaders are seeking the assistance of the farmers' organizations to force their demands upon the country, although they must know that the farmers would be obliged to labor more hours per day at a labor return far below what they themselves demand for a six or eight hour day that they may have cheaper food; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the National Association of Commissioners of Agriculture unqualifiedly assert their loyalty to the principle of the freedom of the people under our democratic American institutions, and while they recognize and uphold the rights of any and every class of our people to associate themselves together for mutual benefit and to use for the disposal of their products or labor the principle of collective bargaining, we just as strongly assert the right of every American to the free and untureatened privilege of disposing of his efforts as he may individually see fit; and further Resent Extremist Ideas.

"Resolved, That we resent the implication that the farmers of this country can be yoked up with greed and lawlessness, whether capitalistic, laboristic, or bolshevistic, and we call upon all authority to quell lawlessness wherever it may occur with firmness and dispatch and demand of all of those in positions of leadership in farmers' organizations and the organizations themselves shall take such action as will place the farmers in the attitude of true, uncompromising Americanism."

Increased production was asked in another message, which said:

"We deplore strikes and lockouts at any time, and in such a crisis as at present we denounce them as bringing unnecessary loss and suffering upon the many while bringing benefits, if any, to the few. The world would be neither clothed nor fed should the farmers adopt the hours and days demanded by the labor unions."

The final session will be held today.

President Wilson Sits Up for First Time in Weeks

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—President Wilson was permitted to sit up for an hour today, the first time he has left his bed since he returned from his interrupted western tour six weeks ago. The president was placed in a wheel chair and was wheeled slowly around the top floor of the White House.

Pays Tribute to Army and Navy; Guest of Government.

when she "put her back to the wall and stood upon the far flung battle line of Europe, making freedom and Christian civilization possible even for the American republic," said that "above all my faith arises to the sublime height of a divine certainty when I look at his royal highness in the belief that never again will men who speak the English tongue have other than faith and confidence in each other."

Lists of Dinner Guests.

The guests at the dinner tonight included Miss Wilson, the ambassadors of Great Britain, France, Belgium, and Japan; Chief Justice and Mrs. White, the members of the cabinet and their wives, Senator Lodge, Senator Cummins, Senator and Mrs. Hitchcock, Gens. Pershing and March, Rear Admiral Coontz, chief of naval operations; Maj. Gen. George Barnett, commandant of the United States Marine corps, and Mrs. Barnett, and Mrs. Francis L. Sayre.

Address at Press Club.

After the dinner the prince drove to the National Press club.

"I am very glad," he said, "to send a few words of greeting to the American people. I wish to tell them through you with what pleasure I recall my visit to their gallant forces in Europe last winter and how glad I am now to be making acquaintance with the great people from whom those forces came.

"The spirit of your soldiers and sailors, officers and men, appealed to me strongly, and made me wish to know their country and their kin. The rapidity of your organization, moreover, enabled me to realize with what devotion and what strength this mighty nation can espouse a noble cause.

Likes Democratic Ways.

"Now that I am really here I feel my anticipation will be fulfilled. Your institutions, you ways of life, your aims, are as democratic as ours, and the atmosphere in which I find myself is the same invigorating and familiar atmosphere which I have always noticed in my American friends.

"I assure you that I deeply appreciate the hospitality of your government in inviting me to pay this visit and in entertaining me so well."

Will Decorate Heroes of War.

Eighty-seven officers, enlisted men, and nurses of the American army and navy, including three officers who served in the British forces, will be decorated here by the prince. More than 100 more will be decorated in New York. Admiral William S. Benson, retired, chief of naval operations during the war, will be made a grand commander of St. Michael and St. George.

Lieut. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder and Rear Admiral A. P. Niblack will be made knight commanders of the same order, while Maj. Gen. Snow, Rear Admiral Ralph Earle, Brig. Gens. G. W. Burr and Marlborough Churchill, and Col. E. L. Hunson will be made companions of the Order of the Bath.

DOC TRIES OUT QUIETING WORDS ON 'DOPE' TANGLE

Greaves, Freed on Bonds, Tells Own and Others' Side of Story.

Doc Greaves, bailed out of jail, ushered the reporter into the parlor of his home at 10 East Delaware street, and there, in the chair Dr. W. H. Sage had occupied Saturday night after the arrest as drug traffickers of Greaves and Hyman Cohen, manager of the W. H. Sage Drug company, sat Hyman.

"Meet Mr. Cohen," said Mrs. Greaves.

Greaves looked bored. Mr. Cohen frowned. Mrs. Greaves added quickly: "Oscar is an old friend."

Doc Greaves then began his defense, presenting Dr. Sage, Druggist Cohen and himself, in the light of humanitarians devoted to the uplift of the race, particularly of that portion addicted to drugs.

An Oscar for a Hyman.

"You're Hyman Cohen?" asked the reporter, turning to Hyman Cohen.

"No," said Hyman Cohen.

"Good-by, Hyman," said Greaves.

Mrs. Greaves frowned.

"I mean Oscar," corrected the Doc.

With the departure of Hyman, alias Oscar, the interview proceeded smoothly.

The Map of Praises.

This was the general outline of the tributes:

DR. SAGE—A rattling good revenue officer, who doesn't own a share of stock in the W. H. Sage Drug company, and who had the habit of giving $5 and $10 bills to poor drug addicts.

MR. COHEN—A druggist who conducted his business on a philanthropic principle, giving fair weight and credit to dope fiends. It was Mr. Cohen's custom to tear up the charge accounts so he wouldn't have to embarrass the addicts by asking them to pay. The only reason he failed to change the name of the firm after Dr. Sage sold out to him was because the store was in an Irish neighborhood.

Greaves then applied conversational morphine to the general situation in which he, Cohen, and Sage find themselves.

Speaks Ill of None.

Suave and genial, although charged with having written nearly 5,000 perscriptions for morphine on Hyman Cohen of the Sage Drug company in nine months, he discussed the "scandal" calmly and aside from a slight resentment at having been arrested Saturday night, too late to obtain bail before Monday, spoke ill of no one.

He expressed grave concern, however, for the welfare of his "seventy-five" drug patients, whose supply has been cut off by the government's crusade. Some are dying and all are suffering, poor devils.

"Some of the very best people—judges, lawyers, business men, and actors—are drug addicts," he said, mentioning the name of a famous actress who, he declared, had been in his office. "The addict isn't a criminal as long as he can get the drug."

Seize $20,000 Cocaine.

Seizure of cocaine valued at $20,000 and warrants for the arrest of Dr. A. F. Zwick, 4649 South Ashland avenue; Dr. J. E. King, and Dr. F. E. Butler, 3036 Indiana avenue, were the day's developments in the drive against the drug traffic. The details of the cocaine raid were withheld. It centered about Zwick.

On behalf of Col. Nutt, who was attacked by Dr. Sage, and is ill at his home, Agent Joseph Peak lodged counter charges against Sage. He demanded to know where Sage had earned the title "Doctor." He asked that Dr. Sage explain sworn statements of Dr. Merwyn B. Bibb, colored, 2900 South State street, and his office aid, Gertrude Gutherde, colored. Following a raid on Bibb's office, the latter made affidavit that Dr. Sage gave him permission to sign perscriptions for drugs and leave them with his clerk, to be issued to addicts while he was on a vacation.

HOYNE TO SEEK ARRESTS TO PUT CHADSEY IN JOB

"Near Anarchy," Judge Says of Defiance of His Order.

State's Attorney Hoyne took an unexpected hand yesterday in the legal controversy now waging as to who shall be superintendent of public schools. Civil action will be resorted to first, Mr. Hoyne said, with a possibility of criminal action to follow.

This morning Assistant State's Attorney John W. Beckwith will appear before Judge Kickham Scanlan in the Circuit court and will present affidavits to the effect that those who have interfered with the carrying out of the quo warranto writ issued last Saturday restoring Dr. Charles E. Chadsey as superintendent are guilty of contempt of court.

Plans to Arrest Guards.

"Joe Doe" warrants will be asked for, Mr. Hoyne said, and the first arrests to be made may be the city detectives who have stood guard in the office of the superintendent of schools since last Saturday, preventing Dr. Chadsey's taking physical possession of the superintendent's desk. Others who may be arrested are the commanding officer who assigneds the detectives.

During the day State's Attorney Hoyne appeared before Judge Scanlan.

"I feel it my duty as state's attorney and as an officer of this court," the prosecutor said, "to call the court's attention to the fact that his quo warranto order restoring Dr. Chadsey to office has been ignored. While such an order is self-executing, Dr. Chadsey has not been permitted to take possession of his office."

Near Anarchy, Says Judge.

"This situation approximates anarchy," Judge Scanlan replied. "I would suggest, Mr. State's Attorney, that you investigate the case further with a view of determining whether or not there has been a criminal conspiracy to obstruct the law."

"I purpose to conduct such an investigation," Mr. Hoyne said last night, "either with or without the aid of the grand jury.

"Dr. Chadsey in the circumstances is entitled to the physical possession of the superintendent of school's office and any man who has interfered with his taking it over will be prosecuted."

City Hall to Fight.

Counsel for the city administration, headed by Corporation Counsel Samuel Ettelson, will seek the aid of the Appellate court this morning in setting aside Judge Scanlan's ouster. They had until today to do this, under an agreement made Saturday.

U. S. WORSTED IN WAR CLAIMS, COMMITTEE HINT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Declaring that millions of dollars might be recovered by the government in a review of war claims adjustments made by officials of the war department, Chairman Graham and his subcommittee investigating expenditures in the war department today submitted a partial report, with a resolution directing Secretary Baker to make supplemental reviews.

Settlements in eight specific cases were set forth by the committee as deserving especial attention.

The resolution requests the secretary of war, if it be found that sums of money are due the government "on account of such settlements being fraudulent or not according to the tenor and effect of the Dent act," institute proceedings to recover the money.

Representative Graham said he would call the resolution up after passage of the railroad bill, with a more complete report.

MRS. E. J. BUFFINGTON HURT.

Mrs. E. J. Buffington of Evanston, whose husband is president of the Illinois Steel corporation, was slightly injured early yesterday morning when her automobile crashed into a fallen tree in Kenilworth. She was thrown through the windshield. Chris Hanson, the chauffeur, caught her. Otherwise she might have been seriously hurt. Hanson said he saw the tree, but because of the high wind and the rain mistook it for a shadow.

I. C. SMOKE EVIL MAY SOON BE BUT A DARK MEMORY

SMOKE VIOLATIONS IN 1919, TO DATE, 4,036

Verily, verily the millennium is at hand, for Health Commissioner Robertson yesterday announced the abatement of the Illinois Central smoke evil.

Moreover, the head of clean air campaign found cause to compliment C. M. Kittle, federal manager of the railroad, on the improved conditions. Installation of steam jets in engine fireboxes, according to reports to the commissioner, have reduced the I. C. smoke nuisance "to almost a negligible amount."

"Formerly we had many complaints from your patrons as to the smoking engines and the strangulating gases that sometimes charged the air so heavily as to make breathing difficult," Dr. Robertson wrote. "Reports of late show that conditions are vastly improved."

On the recommendation of a commitee which has made a study of the Armeur & Co. main plant, declared one of the worst violators in the city, Dr. Robertson yesterday gave the packing concern forty-eight hours to start work on improvements.

Dr. Robertson sent the Illinois Athletic club, reported as a violator three times in the last month, a notice to stop smoking within twenty-four hours.

A COAL INQUIRY.

The decisions of the mine leaders not to carry their protest against the government to the point of law defiance has saved a situation which was in all respects deplorable. It is hoped the miners will promptly follow the wise action of their officials and reopen the mines. Such a course will be appreciated by the public and lay the best foundation for an official inquiry into conditions in the bituminous coal mining industry.

Such informal investigations as have been made by the press and the discussions elicited by the strike have revealed the need for a broad and authoritative inquiry and possibly some corrective legislation. The problem of providing the miner with continuous work at a wage which shall be just in view of his legitimate needs and the danger and hardship of his occupation seems a complicated one, involving such factors as continuous car supply, increase of cost through storage and double handling, and uncertainty of public demand.

The coal industry is in fact impressed with a public trust, and its conditions as they involve the rights of capital and of labor cannot be considered apart from public right. We have had a sharp lesson in this truth and ought not to permit the problem to remain unsolved. It is not desirable that the conflict of employer and employed in this field be compromised without regard to effects upon the public interest or be fought out at public expense. The coal production problem, like that of transportation, is one of basic industrial and social policy and therefore cannot be solved save upon full consideration of its public bearings and full conservation of public right.

We hope a commission of the highest character will be created at once to consider the coal situation in all its phases and to lay the basis in explicit and practical form for remedial action.

SOUND SAVING POLICIES.

As the editorial of the day in this issue we publish the appeal of Lord & Thomas urging upon the business community the wisdom of advertising curtailment by way of contributing to the relief of the white paper shortage. We believe this to be sound, constructive business advice corroborative of the suggestions we have been making in these columns.

FOR THE TREATY—WITH RESERVATIONS.

The report that Republican leaders will resort to the very rare measure of cloture if necessary to keep consideration of the treaty reservations moving expeditiously is welcome. Tactical delays at this stage are unnecessary, and in view of the expediency of a formal proclamation of peace they are unjustifiable. Every man in the senate now knows his mind on the questions to be determined, and further debate is desirable only so far as a proper record is important for future reference and clarification of the American purpose and point of view.

We hope, therefore, that the reservations will be promptly dealt with, and that the treaty with its essential reservations in the American interest will be ready for the president's final consideration at a very early date.

The treaty will not be passed without the American reservations. In our opinion it should be passed with the reservations. The quicker this final issue is determined the better.

THE GERRYMANDER HOLDS.

When we reflect upon such political inequalities as 7,206 voters of the Twentieth ward exercising the same authority in municipal affairs as 47,696 voters of the Twenty-fifth ward we fail to understand how citizens can applaud as "victory" the defeat of the fifty ward plan.

At first apparently safely carried, the redistricting proposition now appears lost by a small majority. We shall have to muddle along with the spectacle of specially carved pocket boroughs holding power over wards many times as large.

The blame for the defeat of the fifty ward plan is not difficult to place. THE TRIBUNE frankly accepts its share. It seemed a foregone conclusion that Chicagoans would welcome the chance to wipe out the gerrymander of 1911 whereby local politicians trimmed and hemmed various wards into neat bailiwicks that could conveniently be carried in the vest pocket.

The plan was defeated because it was not sufficiently agitated. It was only at the last moment THE TRIBUNE sensed a lacking appreciation of the plan's importance. The pocket borough managers were ready with the organized vote. The others were poorly informed. But the question should be kept alive and at the first opportunity be presented for the votes of all the people; this time with full information.

The First ward, extended in 1911 to include all the territory which might safely be considered "mud lands," retains its vote of 15,199. Behold the Thirty-second ward—a residential district—with its registration of 41,240, vainly trying to compete with Kenna and Coughlin.

Consider these registrations in purely home wards: Twenty-fifth, as we have noted, with 47,696; the Twenty-sixth, with 33,142; the Twenty-seventh, with 39,233, and the Thirty-second, also noted above, with 41,240.

Now consider the pocket boroughs, which have the same power in the council: The Twentieth, with 7,206; Nineteenth, with 9,399; Seventeenth, with 7,804; Sixteenth, with 11,832; Twelfth, with 16,521; the Tenth, with 9,418.

The Second ward's map looks like a bit of fancy scroll work, geographically not much larger than some of the tiny west side pocket boroughs, but politically containing 26,964 votes. The gerrymandering thoughtfully was calculated to keep the voting fold intact.

Based on registration, none of the west side wards has a right to political existence. Almost any one of the residential wards of the extreme north or south is as large as three or four of the pocket boroughs. But the tail continues to wag the dog.

WHERE ARE WE AND WHY?

Just at this moment we do not know whether 641 American citizens resident and voting in Ohio have voted the United States wet or whether 167—or whatever the respective numbers are—have voted the United States dry.

The Ohio vote on the prohibition amendment gets a new reading every day. One day the drys have it. The next the wets have it. A percentage much lower than the celebrated one-half of 1 per cent is about to determine something or has determined something.

The imagination of the country is jumping from cider to red likker and from red likker to soda pop, as various tedious and inaccurate Ohio officials count votes and make returns and have the returns sent back to them for verification.

One sovereign American citizen with his little ballot eventually may be the majority in either direction. A million votes were cast in the election on the amendment, and one in that million, if he is finally counted and nailed down as a majority, may cause the wicked to rejoice and the good to grieve all over this land of plenty of everything except the mocking wine.

He may be autocrat of millions, determine their habits, establish their virtues, be custodian of their characters and ruler of their customs. He may. We do not know what the courts will rule. The wets contend that Mr. Polk, assistant secretary of state, was an impulsive promulgator when he declared the ratification of the constitutional amendment. Ohio was returned to him as a ratifier without notice being taken of the fact that Ohio was to have a referendum on the adoption of the amendment by the legislature.

There is another guess as to where we may be or whither we may be drifting—a guess as to whether, Ohio going wet, the courts may say that the year of grace following the ratification has not been entered upon, or whether they will hold that it is about to expire.

The only thing clear and definite is that a question of social customs and personal habits is being determined on a margin of small percentages. This question is one in which a majority has no more moral right to dictate to a minority than a minority has to dictate to a majority.

If a teetotaler were compelled by the decision of the majority to take a drink of whisky every day it would start a revolution in a liberty loving country. Turn the tables and you have a similar invasion of personal rights.

Editorial of the Day

TO ADVERTISERS—A WARNING.

[Lord & Thomas in Printers' Ink.]

There is always danger in prosperity—danger of an orgy. Almost every boom of every sort is followed by disaster.

Uncurbed enthusiasm drifts into speculation, then into recklessness. Wise efforts, by unique success, breed countless unwise ventures. There comes a feeling that nothing can go wrong.

But the laws of good business are unalterable. Violation leads to retribution—always. The inevitable storm comes soon or late to wreck all houses built of cards.

Advertising is entering a new era. Truth, efficiency, and wise direction have brought it new prestige. Multiplied successes have established its position. Its volume is today unprecedented.

But this natural growth, based on sound developments, is already marred by excesses. Many old lines evidence a fever of extravagance. And scores of new lines are clearly unwise ventures.

No doubt the excess profits tax leads to much incautious expenditure. But for other reasons, also, what should be healthy growth shows symptoms of an unhealthy boom.

Unhealthy growth is bound to be disastrous. Not alone to those who suffer, but in its discouragements. In every boom the losses generally exceed the gains. Thus, a whole industry falls into disrepute, which years are required to outgrow.

So this is a time to speak plainly. Not as critics of our compeers or as posers, but as one of the leaders in the advertising line and both altruistically and selfishly its logical defenders.

Because of these buoyant times many are seeking to do in advertising that which can't be done. Some are advertising lines which cannot be identified. Some are advertising to the millions things which only hundreds buy.

Some are urging action where the advertiser's interest exceeds the buyer's interest. And people will not act.

Some are using large spaces to tell stories which small spaces would tell as well. They handicap themselves by extravagance.

Some start advertising who lack proper distribution. In many such lines nine-tenths of the sales are lost. No legitimate advertising can weather a loss like that.

Some are spending more than their lines admit. Conservative advertisers measure and limit expenditures.

Some advertise lines which can never be successful. Some in ways which experience proves impossible. They are proceeding blindly on the general theory that advertising pays.

Advertising is not a panacea. There must be proper diagnosis, right understanding and unusual skill. There must be caution, for every new line treads some unbroken paths.

Wrong advertising does not pay, and in times not so long past advertising has been largely wrong. Look over a magazine ten years old and mark how few of its advertisers lived.

The margins are limited, and waste is pretty sure to overstep the limits. Inefficiency has little chance in a field as big as this. Guessing cannot compete with test-created data. Unwise and hasty ventures in this line meet an almost universal doom.

It is because of the temptation in these buoyant times to look on advertising as a panacea that we are impelled to utter the cautions here stated.

Let nothing here contained be construed as meaning that we do not feel there are those who can profitably spend vast sums in advertising.

Our caution is to a multitude who by spending now more than their lines warrant, or by spending unwisely, breathe into their business a spirit of wastefulness that must result in discouraging reaction in other times to come.

Advertising is too great a power thus to be brought into disrepute. To many who are today indulging in an orgy of unwise and uneconomic advertising we issue these words of warning—for the good of the cause.

[From the Minneapolis Tribune.]

Possibly the most uncommonly precocious characteristics of Mr. Levitzki's work lie in his emancipation from the most common characteristics of precocity. No precocity is quite so precocious as that which prompts forgetfulness of precociousness.

THE best cure for industrial unrest is a scuttle of suds, but that is gone. In the hop vine and the grape vine nature provided man with a safety valve, knowing that only when he was slightly jingled would he be really human, and able to get a correct perspective of this well-named vale of tears.

COL. Bawling Him Out Proper.

[From the Iron River Reporter.]

My husband, William Borns, published the following notice: "This is to notify the public that my wife has left my bed and board without any just cause or reason and that I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her in my name."

He never owned a bed and as for board it would have been hardwood if I had not earned it myself. I sold my property in Florence, Wisconsin to help pay his debts. Ask any of the neighbors who worked the most. Still he has the nerve to publish such a notice, when he knows he never was or will be able to pay any debts. Mrs. Anna Borns.

IT transpires that many dry voters in Kentucky voted "No" thinking, the Lexington Leader explains, that they were voting "No whisky." This is more than likely. "No" is the motto of the League for Making Virtue Odious. When its members see that word on a ballot they automatically put a cross beside it.

THE HIGH COST OF COLLECTING.

Sir: According to a recently published monograph on United States $3 gold pieces, the last specimen of the 1875 date offered at a public coin auction brought over $1,100, and the mintage of several other years also is reaching high figures. How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

ANNIVERSARY OF "FLU" RESPITE.

ON this date in 1918 most communities considered that they were about through with influenza. In practically every instance the first wave had swept over them and the disease was subsiding. The records show that, at least so far as one city is concerned, conditions did not become normal until the following summer. The probability is that the same history will appear to be country-wide when the records of the census office become available.

Many persons are arguing that there will be no influenza this winter because the disease is not in evidence at a date two months later than its onset in 1918. The epidemic of 1891 did not begin until two months after the date of beginning of the epidemic of 1890.

Dr. T. D. Tuttle, in the bulletin of the Kansas department of health, says:

"During the summer there has been only one week that we have not had influenza reported from some part of the state and very few weeks during which we have not had cases reported from all parts of the state. Many widely separated sections of the country have reported epidemics of what has been termed summer influenza.

"The Kansas board will endeavor to control the disease by advising against crowds, especially advising people with colds to stay away from lodges, churches, theaters and even to stay out of stores."

The Massachusetts department advises:

"Walk to work. Avoid the person who coughs and sneezes. Wash the hands before eating. Stay in the sunshine. Do not use common towels. Cover the nose and mouth in sneezing. Keep out of crowded places. Get an abundance of sleep. Keep away from influenza. If the disease attacks a person he is advised to go to bed and send for a physician."

We may have an epidemic this winter which will be as much severer than that of 1918 as the epidemic of 1891 was more severe than that of 1890. But that is quite improbable. Immunity stopped the disease in 1918 and the statistical evidence indicates that there are not very many susceptible people left in the country. Reasoning along this line the indications are that this winter will be far less sickly than last, that while there will be influenza it will not upset us as it did last year, and that the advice given as to how to prevent influenza will win supporters.

The life insurance companies and fraternal societies are apprehensive as to what the winter holds. Mr. F. W. Potter says in the Western Review that nineteen Illinois companies in 1918 had a mortality expense 40 per cent above the expected and 60 per cent over the actual ratio for 1917. His attitude is one of apprehension.

Dr. Lerrigo says in the Country Gentleman:

"Influenza has a faculty of developing a latent disease into an active one and making a slight organic trouble serious."

That statement holds true of most severe infections. However, the indications are that there are fewer after effects of this kind than follow diphtheria, typhoid and other severe infections. The consumption rate of the country did not go up greatly after the epidemic of 1890.

The increased insurance business which grew out of the epidemic will more than offset the great losses in 1918 within a year or two. The great pandemic of 1918 will leave us a more acute pneumonia problem, but to offset that it has stimulated research in pneumonia and created a widespread popular interest in the disease.

CHILD IS OVERWEIGHT.

J. E. writes: "1. Would you consider thirty pounds weight about right for a boy 14 months old?

"2. What quantity of fresh Jersey milk should he drink per day?

"3. What other food in addition to the milk?

"4. He does not walk yet. Is this unusual?"

REPLY.

1. Your child is about eight pounds overweight.

2. Since he is overweight, limit him to a pint a day for the present. A pint and a half would be rather too much were he less fat.

3. Cereal, toast, meat broth, well cooked, and well mashed vegetables, such as spinach, carrots, peas, potato, turnips, well cooked fruits.

4. He will be late in walking. Do not crowd him or even tempt him to walk.

FEARS HARDENING OF ARTERIES.

F. H. writes: "I am a woman 50 years old, have a blood pressure of 160. Can I cure myself by dieting without medicine? After having blood pressure above normal does one ever get back to normal permanently? Other than vegetables, can I eat rice, oatmeal cake, corn and gravy, also beef soup? What are the symptoms of hardening of the arteries?"

REPLY.

You can probably hold your blood pressure at a point where you will not have symptoms. The diet is right except as to gravy and beef soup. Boiled beef is better for you than beef soup. Do not allow constipation to continue. Among the symptoms of hardening of the arteries, in addition to blood pressure, are dizziness, albumin in the urine, headaches.

BOOKS ON TUBERCULOSIS.

H. D. writes: "My physician says I have a mild case of tuberculosis of the bronchial tubes. I would, therefore, be very thankful if you will let me know through your column a good work on tuberculosis, its prevention and cure, the publisher and price of same."

REPLY.

"Rules for Recovery from Consumption," by Brown, published by Lea & Febiger, price $1.50, is all right. Other good books are those by King, Hawes, Bridge, Knopf. If you do not find these books in the public library you will find them in a public medical library and in the library of the local anti-tuberculosis society.

THE FRIEND OF THE SOLDIER

The Friend of the Soldier will cooperate with the war risk insurance bureau of the treasury department, 1307 Stock Exchange building, Chicago, and with the committee of the Chicago Bar association on legal assistance to soldiers and sailors, 105 West Monroe street.

Address inquiries to Friend of the Soldier, Chicago Tribune. Answers to as many as possible will be published in this department. To insure a personal reply an addressed and stamped envelope should be inclosed.

No attention will be paid to anonymous letters.

NOTICE.

Mrs. Josie Wosoba, Oxford Junction, Ia., would appreciate hearing from any member of field hospital 358, 90th division, or any member of the division, who knew Corporal Otto Wosoba, who died of wounds Nov. 11, 1918, in Field hospital 358.

INSURANCE AT 32.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I have been watching your column, but have not seen the insurance rates at my age. I am just 32 and want the monthly premium on each thousand dollars on each kind of endowment policy. I had let my insurance drop for several months and am going to have it reinstated. B. A. B.

There are three endowment policies issued. The monthly premium rate per thousand dollars is $3.38 for twenty year endowment; $2.18 for thirty year endowment; $2.18 for endowment maturing at the age of 62. As you are a resident of Chicago, when you are ready to convert your insurance go to the war risk insurance bureau, 1307 Stock Exchange building, where they are in a position to handle the conversion, reduction, and reinstatement.

RETAINER'S PAY.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Being in the naval reserve, I would like to ask your help in getting my retainer's pay. I was discharged from active service on April 15 this year from the U. S. S. Baltimore, as a seaman 2C. Any service about this will be greatly appreciated. L. W.

As it has not been paid you we suggest that you notify the bureau of navigation, navy department, Washington, D. C., of your failure to receive this amount.

STATE BONUS QUESTION.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I was born and raised in the state of Wisconsin until a few months prior to my enlistment in the army. I had gone to Seattle, Wash., to be with a brother, and stayed there until I enlisted. I was practically living at his home and gave his address as my home address when I entered the service. What state would govern my state bonus question? Am I to collect the Wisconsin bonus or any possible bounty from Washington? E. R. F.

You cannot collect the Wisconsin state bonus as you were not a resident of that state at the time of your enlistment. No provision has been made by the state of Washington for bonus or land grants for returned veterans of the war. However, several bills were passed last winter by the state legislature, covering different forms of employment for many returned men. One particular measure was the passage of a bill appropriating $500,000 for the soldiers and sailors' welfare committee to use in relieving any immediate distress that might occur among any of the returned men and assisting them to return to their respective homes, where other means were not available.

NO ADDITIONAL PAY.

Emington, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Will you please tell me if I am entitled to any additional pay from the government from having served in the national guards before I went to the war?

If so, what am I to do, or where am I to get the proper blanks to apply for it? J. W. J.

This state has made no appropriation for additional pay to be given to national guardsmen who served in the war. You doubtless have your $60 bonus which was granted to all honorably discharged war veterans.

SOLDIER'S TAXES.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I should like to know if soldiers and sailors in the service are exempt from real estate taxes. M. H. E.

Under section 500 of the soldiers and sailors' civil relief act, which applies when any taxes or assessments, whether general or special, falling due during the period of military service in respect of real property, owned and occupied for dwelling or business purposes by a person in military service, or his dependents, at the commencement of his period of military or naval service, and still so occupied by his dependents or employes, are not paid, any person in military or naval service, or any person in his behalf, may file with the collector of taxes or other officer whose duty it is to enforce the collection of taxes or assessments an affidavit showing (a) that a tax or assessment has been assessed upon property which is the subject of this section, (b) that such tax or assessment is unpaid, and (c) that by reason of such military service the ability of such person to pay such tax or assessment is materially affected, and when such affidavit is filed no sale of such property shall be made to enforce the collection of such tax or assessment, or any proceeding or action for such purpose commenced, except upon leave of court granted upon an application made therefor by such collector or other officer. The court thereupon may stay such proceedings or such sale, as provided in this act, for a period extending not more than six months after the termination of the war. This is interpreted to mean six months after peace is officially declared.

DEPENDS ON DATE OF DISCHARGE.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—A year ago this month I received my discharge from the coast artillery at Fort Monroe. I was paid to the day I was discharged and given 3 cents a mile travel allowance to Fort Meyers, Virginia, where I enlisted. I would like to know if I am not entitled to the 5 cent travel rate. Where would I apply for the difference? C. G. P.

You do not mention the date of your discharge. The five cent a mile travel allowance was granted to any soldiers, sailors or marines discharged after Nov. 11, 1918. If you were discharged subsequent to that time, you may file a claim for extra travel pay, with the sone finance officer, Lemon building, Washington, D. C., marking the envelope "travel allowance."

CIVILIAN DECORATIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I am a gold star mother and would like to know how long any one may wear the gold star? I always read your answers in THE TRIBUNE, so will wait for your advice. L. C.

There is no law governing the wearing of stars or service buttons, probably because these are decorations for civilians. Some may wear these stars for years. It is a matter of personal taste.

AND GOT A TERRIBLE COLD.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Please let me know to whom we can complain in regard to traffic regulation now going on in Chicago, which is so deplorable. Have special reference to the parking of automobiles, and something must be done soon, in an efficient and improved way, so that these people who are old and weak and use automobiles for their comfort and health while shopping can find or have their own car, which this stupid, new, and provincial arrangement prevents.

The other day, in the cold and rain, I was only in Field's store fifteen minutes, and when I wanted my car was told it was sent around the block; and so for twenty minutes to half an hour I was shivering and cold chasing after my car, up and down one street after the others—result, had an appointment which I missed and owing to not finding my own car had to use a taxi. When I came home I had a chill and had to go to bed, and have been in the house a week with a very severe cold, contracted through this stupid traffic arrangement.

Something must be done soon to improve and regulate this. People owning expensive and fine cars have them run into all over town by the sudden halting and stops by the dreadful and reckless driving by Yellow Taxis and the careless driving of chauffeurs and truck drivers, especially turning corners rapidly. Going from east to west, who has the right of way—the chauffeur or driver who rides on a boulevard or the fellow who suddenly dashes down side streets?
A TAXPAYER AND DISGUSTED CITIZEN.

I transmit herewith communication complaining of traffic regulations, and I give you below report from the commanding officer of the traffic division relative to the same:

"The writer could avoid what she complains of by having the chauffeur go to any of the several loop garages, and for the sum of 25 cents could remain there until such time as she had completed her shopping or other business, and she could then step into a telephone booth and notify the chauffeur to call at a certain time and place. This would avoid all delay and confusion. Perhaps the writer might take into consideration the thousands of people who, after a day's labor, would have to wait thirty minutes on a corner in below zero weather for a street car, which would be the situation were it not for the anti-parking ordinance.
JOHN J. GARRITY,
General Superintendent.

ABOUT A WILL.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If a will is in existence must it go through regular court procedure or could the will be ignored and the property distributed by the heirs as they see fit?

2. Is there any penalty for not taking a will through the regular court channels?

3. If a will is to be sent through court in the regular way how soon after the death of the maker must it be done to prevent its being worthless?

4. In taking a will through court what are the proper steps to follow?
D. S. D.

1. Under proper conditions the will would not have to be probated.

2. There is, but it never is enforced, especially so if all the parties benefited by the will are agreed not to probate.

3. There is no limitation.

4. File a petition in the Probate court.

PIANO AT ALL HOURS.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there not an unwritten law in apartment buildings that no piano playing is done after 10 o'clock? And what method should be pursued with people who, two or three nights a week, start in about 10:30 and keep going until 11:30 or 12 o'clock? A VICTIM.

There may be a rule in some buildings. See the landlord.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

As but limited space can be given letters in this department, writers must confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Unless they give us their full names and addresses their letters will not be considered. No manuscript will be returned unless the writer sends postage for that purpose.

THE STRAIGHT FURROW.

La Grange, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The farmer has organized, and he knows some of his enemies; he knows that booze and farming do not mix. In this respect he has progressed far beyond the city man, who imagines he must have his daily highball.

If the hours of labor were the same for the city man as the farmer, the bright lights, the daily drink, and the evening in a café would not appeal to him. On the contrary, he would be content to spend the evening by his fireside, thereby conserving his energy, so as to be able to give his employer value received on the morrow in the nature of an honest day's work.
G. W. GALLIER.

MARY, TOO!

Chicago, Oct. 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your article, "Mike Objects," is one of the best arguments I have ever read against the miserable crew who have made discontented, dissatisfied husbands and fathers; and I want to tell you that Mary also objects.

I happen to be Mary, and can tell you that when my Mike came home nights and took his bottle of beer with his meals after a hard day's work in the foundry, we had his Irish humor and cheer at our table!

Of all the grouches since his few cases ran out, it's Mike, and Mike is usually the finest husband and father you ever met. Do you wonder at labor troubles, do you wonder at the bolsheviks, when you consider taking beer from a man's table?

I never yet saw Mike drunk, but I can tell you he's one of those who'll take a fist in each hand to protect himself and five kids from the prohibitionist.
MRS. MARY MCCOLLOUGH.

THE DRY SOLDIER.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Would like to call your attention to two facts. First, 365,000 men from the states of Ohio and Kentucky were in army and navy service in the late war. They are now back home.

Second, women do not vote in Ohio or Kentucky, yet both states voted dry. Now, did the returned soldiers vote wet or dry? Write your own headline.
C. TO K.

FROM A WORKER.

Chicago, Ill., [Editor of The Tribune.]—Gompers told it to them a few days ago that they would never have a satisfied workingman so long as they kept him from having his beer and wine, and he was right. As one of the working class, I do not know what the other class are thinking about it, or how they are taking to prohibition, but this I do know, that the workingmen are few and far between who are in favor of it; in fact, I don't know any of them who are.
H. A.

VOX SODA POP.

Brookfield, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I would like to make inquiries through the columns of your paper for some person in Chicago with money enough to start a morning newspaper. Some one who is not on the auction block willing to be knocked down to the highest bidder, and would give the people the truth. Take, for instance, the attitude of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE on the liquor question. I don't think the public at large are interested in the personal views of the editor on this proposition, and should he be permitted to use the paper to advocate the cause of outlaws.
JOHN W. LANDLEY.

HOW THE OTHER HALF LIVES.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The attempt by one-half of the people to impose their will on the other half, particularly in matters of personal habits and desires, may beget pernicious consequences not now apprehended.
C. J. M.

ON THE TOP O' THE WORLD.

West Brattleboro, Vt., Nov. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—"The boy who is on the top of the world today is the farmer."—TRIBUNE, Oct. 31.

We agree absolutely. My wife and I came to the same conclusion three years ago, and we have never been sorry. We have gone to the dairy for our milk and the (hired man's) kids gathered the eggs and the potatoes are in our bins and the salt pork is in the brine, etc. We don't worry about the coal miners' strike. We go to the wood lot and cut a winter's supply of beech and maple. If there are any in your office who are tired of this ceaseless, worthless struggle for a living, they might do likewise. Any one who is strong enough can milk cows and chop wood. Probably your editorial will reach hundreds of fellows who have labored in an office for years and who have saved enough to start in a modest way. Here is what it cost me to go to the dairy for milk, send the kids after the eggs, put the pork in the brine, etc.:

Farm of 135 acres, including two barns, house, auto, etc.	$50,000
Thirty cows at $100	3,000
One bull at $150	150
12 brood sows at $100	1,200

THE BITTER PILL.

Port Wing, Wis., Nov. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—How about that much talked of league of nations? Is it a fact that after all the fuss and furor of the last few months our United States senate is going to gulp down the bitter pill with only a wry face? If it does, it will certainly merit the studied contempt of unmistakably shown it by the immense majority of late, all-wise, and infallible one in all his relations to it. He has treated it as an aggregation of pinheads. Is it sane to justify that estimate? Haven't our United States senators enough calcium carbonate in their spinal columns to whitewash the bald spots on the tops of their diminutive heads?

CAMP CONTRACTS POLITICAL GIFTS, WITNESS SAYS

Names Lewis, O'Donnell in Grant Building Waste Inquiry.

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 11.—Startling testimony as to the part politics is alleged to have played in the granting of Camp Grant building contracts was given by Ross Beckstrom, a Rockford contractor, at the morning session of the subcongressional committee.

Beckstrom charged huge contracts for the construction of additional hospital facilities in 1918 were awarded by the emergency construction committee of the National Council of Defense, composed of architects and contractors, to its political and business "friends."

Relating a conversation which he said took place in Washington in February, 1918, between himself and Capt. Granger of the committee, Beckstrom testified the army officer said so much "political influence was being brought to bear upon the emergency construction body" that he had "to divide the cantonment work among certain interests."

His Name "Scratched."

Beckstrom said that after his company had completed its first big contract at Camp Grant he was told he had been recommended by Col. W. O. Smith for additional work to cost $500,000. A week later, he said, Col. Smith told him things were "not looking just right" and urged him to go to Washington and present his case.

The witness said at Washington he saw Col. Betts, who said Smith's recommendation of Beckstrom had come back from the committee with Beckstrom's name scratched off and the name of Henry Erickson of Chicago substituted.

"Col. Betts said he was sorry the war department couldn't conduct government business in a businesslike way, but he was powerless to help my company," Beckstrom testified.

He seemed bitter that he had not been given the contract and laid the blame at the feet of Col. Sterrett of New York, who was in charge of the cantonment construction. Sterrett is said to have claimed that Beckstrom's firm was not big enough to handle the job. Erickson, given the job, sublet it to five contractors, who each are declared to have made a good profit.

Names Lewis, O'Donnell.

Beckstrom said Simon O'Donnell of Chicago was active in behalf of the other company and made a trip to Rockford on its behalf.

"I also heard former Senator J. Hamilton Lewis was active in the interests of the Chicago firm," Beckstrom testified.

The inquiry took a new angle when the committee asked Capt. L. H. Moss, in charge of supplies at the cantonment, why surplus lumber was being shipped by the government from Camp Grant to Honolulu, when there was plenty of lumber on the Pacific coast and Rockford men stood ready to purchase the lumber in stock here. He parried the interrogation with, "I think you realize that I'm in the army."

The committee will conclude its investigation tomorrow and return to Washington.

TIPOFFS FOILED GAMBLING RAIDS, POLICEMAN SAYS

Names City Aid, Who Blames Another at Cronin Trial.

Grapevine warnings that "tipped off" gamblers before the police could strike hampered the efforts of Capt. Thomas F. Cronin, suspended commander of the Warren avenue police district, to raid gambling places and convict the men arrested, it was asserted yesterday at Capt. Cronin's trial before the civil service commission.

Patrolman Lewis Young, one of the witnesses, declared an assistant city prosecutor, Harry W. Meneley, upset plans for a raid on the Hermitage club at 1859 West Lake street by telling John Gatewood, the manager, that a warrant was out for him.

Prosecutor Denies All.

Attorney Meneley came back at the policemen a half hour after he left the witness stand with a different version of the "tip-off." He admitted he was in the Desplaines street court when the warrant was issued for Gatewood, but denied he had carried the news to him.

"Jim Martin, a poolroom keeper who has a place just across the street from the Hermitage club, was in court when the warrant was issued," said Attorney Meneley. "There was a good deal of loud talk among the clerks, who were kidding me because a warrant had been issued for a man in my ward, the Fourteenth.

"Martin, I understand, is an officer in the Hermitage club, and he beat it to Gatewood and told him the warrant was out. Gatewood called me up. I told him to come into the Desplaines street court and give himself up, which he did."

Young testified the warrant was ordered by Capt. Cronin when the patrolman reported he was sure there was gambling in the club, but could not gain admittance to get evidence.

"Tip-Off" Spoils Plans.

"We wished the warrant so we could break into the club, where we knew there was gambling," he said. "When Gatewood gave himself up the plan was off. We had no evidence against him. The judge dismissed the case."

"Are you satisfied Gatewood has been running a gambling game in the club from Jan. 1 to Oct. 22?" asked Attorney Bugee for the prosecution.

"There is no doubt of it in my mind."

Several witnesses for Capt. Cronin made similar admissions.

Politics to Be Defense.

Capt. Cronin refused to discuss the evidence. It was reported he will bring politics into the case when he takes the witness stand. Activities of the Eighteenth Ward William Hale Thompson club, it is said, will be related by the captain to show there was a political coterie which laughed at his orders to clean up.

LOWDEN'S RACE WILL NOT LOSE CITY CONVENTION

G. O. P. Committee to Ignore Fact Governor Is Candidate.

Chicago doesn't lose its chance to be the spot where the next presidential candidate will be nominated just because of the candidacy of Gov. Frank O. Lowden.

That was settled yesterday at a final but unofficial round-up of national committeemen following the session of Monday. Chicago is so far ahead of the rest of the convention city prospects as a place where a national convention can be held with comfort and joy that the committeemen present—nearly one-half of the voting strength that will answer roll call at the Willard hotel, Washington, Dec. 10—decided unanimously that the issues of the convention city and the presidential nominee were to be separated forthwith.

Doesn't Hurt Chances.

In other words, Chicago goes to bat at Washington next month without prejudice because of Gov. Lowden's candidacy. Moreover, as it is understood by the national committeemen, Gov. Lowden's friends are not to be handicapped in any way in the preconvention campaign just because Chicago is the first choice for the convention city of at least two-thirds of the national committeemen.

This issue was rather sharply raised in the Monday conferences at the Congress hotel, and it looked for awhile as though a row was about to start that might lead to significant consequences when the committee assembles at Washington to name the city and fix the date for the convention. Chairman Hays, it is understood, acted as the peacemaker and smoothed out the situation.

Upham is Confident.

At that, Fred W. Upham, who is the regular convention getter for Chicago every four years, is determined to leave nothing undone to land the premier political event of next season.

"If Chicago loses now, it is our own fault," Mr. Upham said. "The preliminary work is done. Naturally a large majority wants to come to Chicago, because of the admitted advantages from every standpoint that we possess. We have a real fight on our hands, however, that will not terminate until the vote is taken at Washington."

Formal Call Issued.

The formal call for the national committee meeting was issued at the Chicago headquarters yesterday afternoon by Chairman Hays, just before he started away for New York. The call summons the national committeemen to meet at the New Willard Hotel at 11 o'clock, on the morning of Dec. 10. Mr. Upham and the Chicago committee in charge of the campaign for Chicago will depart for Washington, Dec. 8. The Hamilton club will be represented by its convention committee.

It was a busy political day at the Congress hotel. The Lowden and the Wood headquarters were going at high speed. Secretary of State L. L. Emmerson said that the Lowden people had been swamped by the rush of visitors, most of them from outside of Illinois. John T. King, manager of the Wood campaign, completed a long line of conferences. The scenery around the two spots was that of national convention week.

ASK CHILDREN TO DELIVER WEAPONS.

In accordance with a custom instituted a year ago by the Juvenile Protective association, all school children will be asked by their teachers to bring to school all toy weapons and all death dealing instruments.

USE STORAGE EGGS AND BUTTER, PLEA

CHICAGO is urged to tap the cold storage supply of butter and eggs by the federal "fair price" committee, which yesterday issued its weekly price list.

"Europe is after our best storage eggs and butter," announced Myron E. Adams, assistant to Maj. A. A. Sprague, chairman. "We find no fresh eggs or butter available now, and the storage supply is in excellent condition."

Prosecution of several sugar profiteers late this week was predicted by committee officials, although no warrants have been sworn out. Department of Justice operatives have been collecting new data on dealers who persist in selling sugar with joint grocery orders alone.

72 COUNTIES IN STATE AGAINST HEARST I. AND R.

Complete and official returns from all except twelve of the 101 counties of Illinois, outside of Cook, as compiled at the office of Secretary of State Emmerson at Springfield, show that the Hearst initiative and referendum proposition was repudiated by the downstate voters. The totals compiled for the eighty-nine counties give these results:

Net majority against the Hearst I. & R.	30,079
Counties giving majority "for"	17
Counties giving majority "against"	72
Senatorial districts "for"	7
Senatorial districts "against"	23
Senatorial districts in doubt	2

The foregoing tabulation does not include Cook county, where the official canvass is to be completed today. Police returns, compiled election night, showed narrow majorities for the I. and R. in a half dozen senatorial districts. These may show differently in the official figures. The official total in Chicago and Cicero, without the country towns shows a total majority for the I. and R. of 65,948. The downstate counties that are not included are Coles, Greene, Henry, Jefferson, Johnson, Kankakee, Macoupin, Madison, Sangamon, St. Clair, Vermilion, and Winnebago.

The rural counties went overwhelmingly against the I. and R. proposal. The counties that show majorities for are those containing such cities as Aurora, Joliet, Peoria, Rock Island, East St. Louis, and Springfield.

The total vote in the eighty-nine counties for the I. and R. is 81,273 and the vote against is 111,352, making a majority against of 30,079.

50 WARD DEFEAT LIABLE TO BRING EXTRA SESSION

Defeat of the fifty ward bill, as shown by the official canvass, has made it easy for the politicians who will fight for the ward committeeships next April, but it has piled up manifold complications otherwise. There is strong talk that a special session of the legislature may be required to unscramble the mess.

Officially the case was put up to Attorney Colin C. H. Fyffe yesterday by Chief Clerk James F. Sullivan of the board of election commissioners. Mr. Sullivan has asked for an immediate opinion on the situation that has been precipitated by the adoption of the new primary law, the new nonpartisan municipal election law, and the defeat of the fifty ward law.

Bright Denies Being Ousted from Legion Circus

Charles Bright of New York breezed blithely into THE TRIBUNE office yestere'en to say that he was not thrown out of the American Legion's circus grounds in the stockyards Sunday, nor put out, nor escorted out, nor ejected, nor compelled to go out. He just got up and went.

Bright had a concession at the circus. He had a lot of little pamphlets, and some of the legionnaires declared they were seditious, and confiscated them.

Bright admits "there was some little question about a few paragraphs," and that after he was out he threatened to sue the persons who hinted he was taking up valuable space.

CITY PROMISES ITS FINANCIAL AID TO EUROPE

Bankers Meet Foreign Commissioners Behind Closed Doors.

Europe's outstretched hand across the sea was clasped warmly by the financial leaders of Chicago yesterday, when leading bankers assured the visiting interallied commission of finance and commerce that they are ready to help with American dollars in their countries' upbuilding.

The announcement was made to the foreign representatives after a three hour conference with Chicago's banking chiefs behind closed doors at the Congress hotel.

The resolution calling for the support of the city was proposed by James B. Forgan, chairman of the First National bank, after the heads of the missions had individually made their pleas and stated in detail the situation in their countries.

It was seconded by John J. Mitchell of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank and the Merchants Loan and Trust company.

Insull Makes Statement.

The resolution was carried unanimously, with the following statement prepared by Samuel Insull, chairman of the conference:

"After hearing the information given by representative bankers of our allied European nations, the bankers of Chicago present express their willingness to give their support to such financial measures as may hereafter be developed for the restoration of normal conditions of trade and commerce and to hasten the restoration of normal financial conditions in Europe.

"They also express the hope that, taking into consideration the interest of all producers and exporters of the United States, the government will give its moral support to help solve the present world problem."

No Loans Promised.

The bankers who voted were Charles G. Dawes, J. B. Forgan, M. A. Traylor, John J. Mitchell, E. D. Hulbert, Arthur Reynolds, A. W. Harris, and J. G. McDougall.

There were no individual or collective loans promised, it was said, so the resolution of support is construed as a declaration that the bankers will stand behind the floating of a foreign loan on long term credits of from two to four billions of dollars, the plan that was suggested at the Atlantic City conference.

This loan, it is said, will be launched through the medium of securities issued in denominations as low as $50 so that the general public can aid.

Tells Needs of France.

In relating the present financial position of France to the bankers, Baron Du Marais, vice chairman of the French delegation and head of the Credit Lyonnais, said:

"France has spent all the liquid assets which were readily convertible into dollars and now has dire need of foodstuffs, raw material, and manufactured products which she must import. America, which has amassed wealth and is equipped for an enormous production in excess of her needs, finds herself confronted with the fact that because of the exchange situation, she cannot offer France part of her surplus production save at prices that are so high that they are almost prohibitive. The exchange barrier must be overcome.

"Formerly Europe bought American securities when America was in need of capital to develop and weather crises. It passed through these situations without suffering from the rate of exchange. America, now coming out of the war wealthier and more powerful than ever, sees the previous situation reversed.

Need Long Term Credits.

"Your short term credits to favor exportation would not meet the present need. Foreign investments will result in deflation and will not inconvenience the public.

"The exchange shuts France off from the source of supply at a time when she is confronted with the problem of reviving her industries and increasing her production. Our problem is one of long term credit; ten years should be the minimum duration for credits that are to be extended."

Baron Du Marais explained the French budget, stating that it appropriated $1,000,000,000 before the war, double the amount in 1919, and will reach $4,100,000,000 in 1920. He said France is willing to pay greater taxes in order to balance her future budget.

The interallied missions closed their three day stay in Chicago last night with an informal dinner and theater party. Their next stop is Detroit.

SERGT. HAMILTON WINS PRAISE FOR AUTO THEFT WORK

SERGT. PAT "GIT 'EM" HAMILTON.

On Armistice day last year, when most of the world stopped fighting, Sergt. Patrick Edward Hamilton declared war on automobile thieves.

John Henry Alcock, then acting chief of police, had made him head of the auto section of the detective bureau, and that day there were 57 autos stolen. The next day Hamilton had recovered the majority of them and got himself the title of "Gets 'Em Hamilton."

Yesterday Alcock wrote him the following letter:

"As you have been in charge of the auto section of the detective bureau one year today, I consider it befitting, owing to the brilliant record you and the men of your section have made, to congratulate you and your men on the enormous number of autos recovered, on the multitude of automobile thieves arrested, prosecuted and convicted. You have made a record all men of the department might well try to emulate. I hope during the next year you will meet with still greater success."

"L" Revaluation Plea to Have Hearing Today

Hearing of the plea of the Chicago Elevated railways for a revaluation of their property is set for this morning before the public utilities commission. The roads have not indicated upon what ground they will seek to have the revaluation based, but the city expects them to advance one which will justify the present 5 cent fares and is prepared to resist the attempt.

AGED WOMAN KILLED BY CAR.

Mrs. Anna English, 75 years old, 2434 Warren avenue, died at the county hospital last night of injuries suffered when she was struck by a street car at Madison and Rockwell streets Sunday night.

FATHER'S BATTLE FOR 2 CHILDREN INVOLVES HOGAN

Judge Victor P. Arnold of the Juvenile court is investigating the case of two children taken from their father and adopted by an aunt two years ago. Robert E. Hogan, an assistant state's attorney, who for years was assigned to the court, but who recently resigned, may be asked to explain the part he is said to have taken in the proceeding.

Herbert Adams, the father, has filed a petition in the court asking that he be given the custody of the children—Lillian, 15 years old, and Dorothy, 8—who were adopted by Mrs. Lillian Willis, 3337 Wallace street, in October, 1917, after the court had been told "their mother is dead and their father cannot be found," it is alleged.

Mrs. Minnie Jones, a probation officer, told Judge Arnold yesterday that when she offered to tell Assistant State's Attorney Hogan that she had information on the case of the children and knew the whereabouts of their father, Hogan declined to hear her.

After hearing a number of witnesses, Judge Arnold continued the case until today and indicated he would set aside the decree allowing the aunt to adopt them.

CLEAR UP GIRL'S DEATH.

Miss Margaret Hickman, 927 North Sacramento boulevard, who died Monday night in an ambulance on the way to a hospital, died from natural causes, according to a verdict by a coroner's jury yesterday. She was stricken while talking on the telephone in her home. It was at first supposed she was suffering from poison.

POWERS HEAD OF WEST PARKS AS SMULSKI RESIGNS

John F. Smulski, president of the west park board since June 12, 1917, resigned yesterday in order to give more attention to his private business affairs, and was succeeded by Richard J. Powers, former auditor of the board.

Mr. Powers will be president until the term of Mr. Smulski expires in February. Mr. Smulski continues as a member of the board.

WIFE DIVORCES "SPEED" WEBER

Arthur R. (Speed) Weber, whose racing car somersaulted and killed John Healy and L. A. Burns near Teasville Sept. 6, 1919, was called "cruel and inhuman" yesterday by Mrs. Vera C. Weber, 4517 Dover street, as she brought his second matrimonial venture to an end. Mrs. Weber's divorce suit was heard by Judge W. F. Cooper in the Superior court.

"Last Christmas, after a party in our home," testified Mrs. Weber the second, "my husband struck me and tore the clothing from my body."

Mrs. Anna T. Weber, 1249 Wilson avenue, first wife of Weber, was divorced in 1915 "because of Mrs. Vera C. Weber," she said last night.

FOR THE OPERA

The fine point of artistic decision in apparel comes with the selection of the formal modes. Through them, perhaps in a greater degree than in any other phase of fashion, is possible a tellingly vivid expression of personality.

With these collections as source and one's own preferences as guide, such an achievement of individuality becomes easily and quickly possible. For here is every brilliant interpretation of a brilliant season's modes.

Evening Gowns for Women and Wraps to Accompany

Jet filaments looped lie loosely upon black tulle, posed over black satin to make a gracious evening gown. A daring color note is given in the brocaded bodice. $210. Cherry or sapphire colored velvet makes an exquisite gown which has here and there a glitter of crystal. $165. Others to $550.

As to wraps—here one may choose them in dark-toned silk velvets luxurious in their furs and rich in the simple but effective ornamentations. Then there are wraps of brocades in grace-giving lines and wraps of black velvets, $125 to $575.

Dance and Dinner Frocks and Wraps that Are Youth's

There's a frock of taffeta and silver lace that puffs over the hips in true Crinoline fashion for as little as $50. Black velvet attains a youthfulness one had not deemed possible in another frock, slim and svelte of line, whose close, quaint bodice is a banding of silver cloth. $85. Others to $225.

Wraps for the evening occasions are of broadcloth or of silk velvets vivid in tone, often with fur. $97.50 to $450. Afternoon wraps suitable for evening of duvetyns with fur, $225 to $350.

"CHUCK" MELLOR CAPTURES LEGION FIVE-MILE RUN

LEADS JONES BY ONLY 2 SECONDS AT FINISH LINE

"Chuck" Mellor of the Logan Square Athletic club won the American Legion five mile road race yesterday, making the trip from Grant park to Comiskey park inclosure in 22:45. The race was the feature of the track meet and football game held by the legion to celebrate the signing of the armistice that released its members from service.

Mellor was only two seconds ahead of "Jerrie" Jones, one of Tom Eck's long distance runners from the University of Chicago. Jones finished in 22:47. Twelve runners started. Baker, 47 year old veteran, finished the course in good condition.

Maroon Athletes Winners.

Five other track events were held, in which University of Chicago boys took the bulk of the honors with 33 points. Several unattached athletes competed in the events, but could not stand the pace set by the U. of C. men. The track was on the grass of the outfield.

The football that was billed as the feature of the day turned out to be a contest between the Forest Park eleven, representing the army, and the Stayms team, representing the navy.

The Stayms treated the Forest Parks to a 6 to 0 defeat, scoring on a thirty yard pass in the first quarter. Summaries:

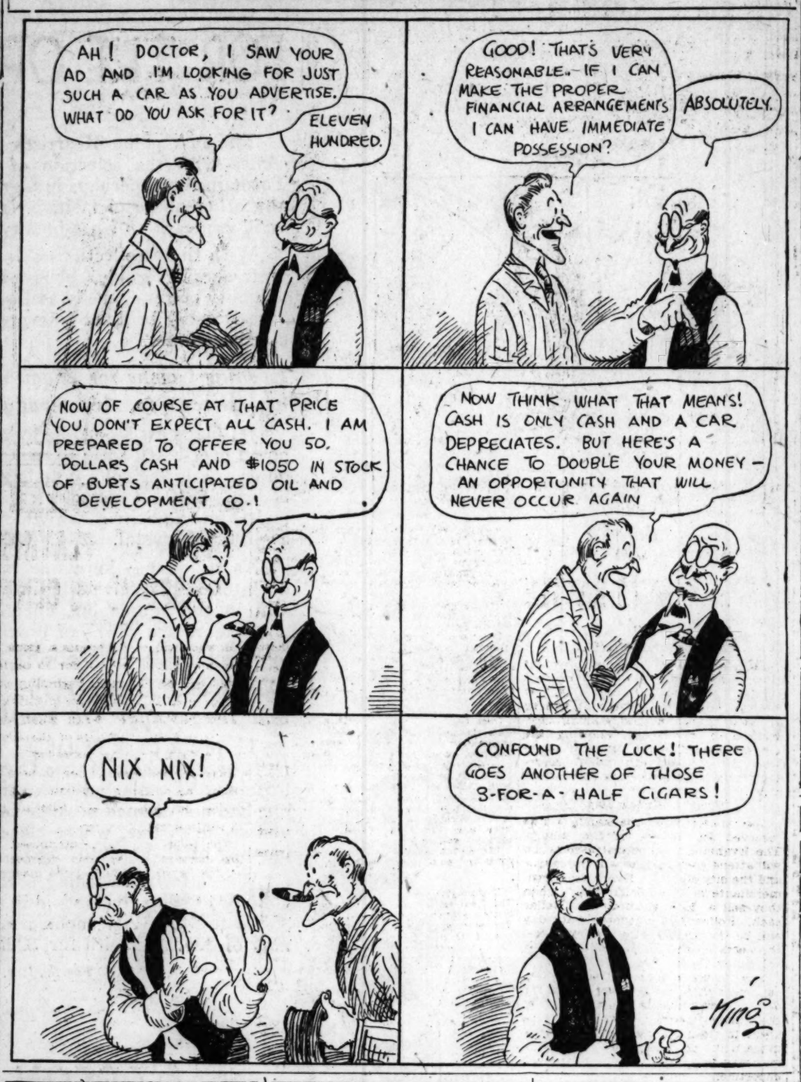
GASOLINE ALLEY—ALMOST SOLD!



SHOTS ON THE LINKS By JOE DAVIS

THE board of directors of the Evanston Golf club has decided to keep the clubhouse open all winter. Starting Dec. 1, two dinner-dances will be given each month. A portion of the property will be flooded for skating. Electric lights will be installed. It also is proposed to have an indoor golf course. The members also have been informed of a $200 assessment levied to meet the financial deficit.

* *

Jack Burke, formerly at the Wheaton Golf club, but now with the Town and Country club of St. Paul, left Chicago last night for Fort Worth, Tex., to resume his winter position with the Glen Garden club. He won the Minnesota open championship this summer.

Burke reports that St. Paul is to have two new clubs. Both will be located at South St. Paul, one being promoted by the packing interests, while the other will be patterned after the old Elm club of Chicago. The Town and Country club recently refused an offer of $500,000 for its property.

*

Anthony Spalding, the British critic, rates Abe Mitchell as the best British golf professional of the year. His victory in the professional tournament at Walton Heath was his most noteworthy performance, but in general, his play was more consistent than that of the other leaders.

The foundations of Mitchell's success were his resourceful shots from thirty to forty yards and his consistency in holing out from all distances up to twelve feet. His deadly putting impressed his brother professionals, especially in view of the fact that he stabs his putts. His style violates all the canons of good putting, but he gets results.

* *

At the annual meeting of the Bob O'Link Country club, J. E. Harding was elected president, succeeding Walter W. Ross, who has been president of the club since its inception, and who was mainly responsible for its being formed. The other officers are: Vice president, Clark L. Poole; treasurer, C. M. Kimball; secretary, A. K. Bodholt.

Billiard Notes

IN the three cushion tournament at Bensinger's Monroe street room, Wells defeated Rosenfeld [40], 45 to 28. Fuller and Tracy tonight.

* *

R. I. McGinnis, dean of the contestants in the balkline tournament at Mussey's, gave Dave McAndless, the national amateur champion, his first defeat, winning, 250 to 240. He had high run of 36 and averaged 8 26-28. McAndless had high run of 37. Walsh and Hough tonight.

* *

Knoezer defeated Sucherlang, 25 to 13, in the class B tournament at Jenkins' room. Graham and Baettinger tonight.

* *

Campbell won two games in the snooker tournament at Mussey's, defeating Plummer, 146 to 63, and Douglass, 115 to 69. Douglass defeated Campbell, 110 to 41, and Plummer won from Douglass, 115 to 69.

* *

* *

Charley Morin defeated Augie Kieckhefer, 50 to 42, in 57 innings in an exhibition game at the Chicago Athletic association. Morin had high run of 7.

LURE OF THUMPS IN THE CLASH OF PINK VS. SAILOR

Mitchell - Freedman Tilt in Racine Tomorrow Magnet for Fans.

BY RAY PEARSON.

Looks like our boxing bugs think this mill between Sailor Freedman and Pink Mitchell at Racine tomorrow night is a championship scrap. We can say that it isn't without hurting anybody's feelings, as it doesn't take champs to make a buzz saw battle.

Local followers of the game, however, are looking for the fur to fly, judging by the way they are throwing the jack at Al Bloom. The return for said jack is ducats to this swatfest, and Bloom, who is handling the local sale, last night had almost exhausted his supply of $1,000 worth of pasteboards. He's asked Promoter "Pop" Wagner for more tickets and may or may not get 'em.

Mike vs. Mike.

Mike Gibbons of St. Paul is one of the greatest middleweight boxers the game has ever had. But the game may not have Mike Gibbons after Nov. 21. On that date Mike battles his townsman, Mike O'Dowd, and Gibbons announces that if beaten he will pack the mitts away in moth balls for good and that pugilism will have to get along without its noted phantom.

If such a thing should happen there will be no gloom in the Gibbons' swan song, if viewed from the Gibbons standpoint, for Michael is well padded for the future. He won't starve or anything like that, for Mike knew what to do with the coin he plucked out of the game, and that was some.

Ad Thacher in Ring Again.

We haven't heard the name Ad Thacher mentioned since that memorable championship in which Jack Dempsey copped the crown from Jessica Willard at Toledo July 4. Thacher was the fellow that made it possible for Tex Rickard to pull off that mill for the heavyweight title. Now Thacher is billing a show of his own and will stage Jeff Smith and Jack McCarren, middleweights, in a twelve rounder on Nov. 21.

Tom Jones; remember Tom? So does Jess Willard. Jones is in town to do a bit of boosting for a show to be held shortly in Peoria, when his scrapper, Bryan Downey, mixes with Goats Doig.

Eddie Wells, a 122 pounder, wants trouble and wants it so badly he announces through his manager, James O'Keefe, 621 Cass street, that he will concede a few pounds to get it.

PERMITS BOXING TO AID RED CROSS

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The spectacle of a referee holding aloft the hand of a boxer in token of victory at the end of a professional bout was viewed tonight in the 1st field hospital. The occasion was arranged as a medium for attracting funds to the Red Cross drive. These bouts were originally scheduled for last Friday night, but the police prohibited them.

The matter was carried to court, where this afternoon Justice Delehanty of the Supreme court, while denying a motion to restrain the police from interfering with the matches, advised that patriotic speakers be enlisted to address the spectators as part of the program and urge them to subscribe to the Red Cross as they made their way from the armory after the show.

Every step a hammer blow

EVERY step you take with hard leather heels on modern, hard pavements acts as a hammer blow to your nervous system.

The average person, even though his work is indoors, takes 8,000 steps a day—gives his system 8,000 daily jolts and jars. The constant repetition of these shocks exhausts your energies, contributes largely to the state of over-fatigue.

You can eliminate this great cause of fatigue. You cannot change the hard pavements, but you can change your heels. O'Sullivan's Heels absorb the shocks that tire you out. They relieve the jolts and jars that make a burden of walking.

To secure the great resiliency and durability of O'Sullivan's Heels, the highest grades of rubber are "compounded" with the best toughening agents known. The "compound" is then "cured" or baked under high pressure.

It is this special process that has, since the making of the first rubber heel, established O'Sullivan's Heels as the standard of rubber heel quality.

O'Sullivan's Heels are guaranteed to wear twice as long as ordinary rubber heels; and will outlast three pairs of leather heels.

Go to your shoe repairer today and have O'Sullivan's Heels put on your shoes.

O'Sullivan's Heels are furnished in black, white or tan; for men, women and children. Specify O'Sullivan's Heels, and be sure that you get O'Sullivan's—avoid the disappointment of substitutes.

IOWA TO INVADE MIDWAY WITH GREAT TEAM IN TOP FORM

ENTIRE POWER OF 11 MEN PUT INTO EVERY PLAY

Slater, A. Devine, and Belding Rank with the Year's Best Stars.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Football fans who journey to Stagg field Saturday to see the annual clash between Chicago and Iowa will be repaid by seeing in the Hawkeyes one of the smoothest working elevens in the conference, a team which combines a fast running attack with a close, consistent offense, varied occasionally by open play, in which the forward pass is the main factor.

Iowa is a well coached team. It is built as thoroughly drilled in football fundamentals as it is in advanced tactics. The players follow the ball carefully, tackle with deadly effect, and take off their men in the intereference with the desired result. The line is big and powerful and should be strong enough on Saturday to hold its own with the Maroon forward wall.

Show Great Coördination.

The Hawkeyes' plays are executed in a manner which shows the results of hard practice. On their shift plays the players move in unison and there is a rhythm to their movements which figure well for the success of most formations. In fact, the backs are nearly in action when the ball is snapped, so carefully timed are most of the plays.

Iowa has played the safest football of all conference elevens this year. Coach Jones apparently believes in the theory of making the other fellow fight to defend his goal, and his team is instructed to kick whenever in doubt of making the distance necessary for a first down. On several occasions the ball has been booted on the first down when the oval was in Iowa territory.

Lohman a Sturdy Plunger.

This year's Iowa team is captained by Full Back Lohman, one of the best ground gaining backs in the Big Ten. Not only is the Hawkeye leader a valuable man carrying the ball but a tower of strength on defense and one of the best interfering backs in the conference. He has an ideal build for the position, weighing about 175 pounds. He generally makes distance when short gains are necessary for first downs. He is the backbone of Iowa's offense.

Aubrey Devine, who recently has been shifted from half back to quarter back, is one of the most valuable players on this man is a natural football player. He handles the ball well on the few plays in which the ball passes through his hands, while his end running or cut-in off tackle plays while running from the full back's position are generally good for gains.

Heady, Capable Kicker.

The quarter back is a good kicker and places his attempts accurately. He got Northwestern in the hole several times last Saturday by punting the ball out of bounds close to the Purple goal line and was ever mindful of the fact not to kick the ball over the goal line when he was booting in Northwestern territory.

E. Devine, the quarter back's brother, has been playing a consistent game at right half back. He is a shifty, heady runner, who generally makes short gains no matter where he is sent. His forte is driving on and off the tackles. In these plays his speed, which he gathers quickly, enables him to make ground when opposition is met. He also is a heady defensive player and a strong tackler.

Forward and Lateral Passes.

Parker, the other half back, graduated to the regular ranks shortly after Iowa's game with Illinois. He makes an ideal running mate for E. Devine and is a clever player in getting out in the open to receive short over the line forward passes. He is also good at receiving lateral passes and this ability combined with the play of Lohman and E. Devine, makes the Hawkeye backfield a dangerous one.

Belding, right end, is one of the best flank players in the west. He was rated one of the best last year, but has improved so much this season that he should receive consideration from critics in all sections of the country. He is deadly in catching forward passes, is a strong defensive player and covers punts perfectly.

Slater is a Wonder.

Charlton, left end, is an average player who needs the experience of more games. He is a hard, willing athlete, but is too easily fooled by shifts. He showed marked improvement against the Purple Saturday, and it is only reasonable to believe he will do better against the Maroons.

Slater, giant colored tackle, Iowa has one of the best forwards in the country. This man is one of the most powerful players seen since the days of Joe Curtis of Michigan, Walker of Minnesota, and Buck of Wisconsin. He is so powerful that one man cannot handle him and opposing elevens have found it necessary to send two men against him every time a play was sent off his side of the line.

Block, the other tackle, is a comparatively new player who has been developed for the position since Synhorst was declared ineligible on the eve of the Illinois game. He is playing as good football as can be expected, improving with the playing of every contest.

Center of Line Well Guarded.

Mackmore and Kaufman, the guards who started the Northwestern game, played well. They charge in the proper manner and generally open holes through which Lohman makes his gains. Hunzelman, who has been playing on some of the games, is a first class lineman and can be used to advantage at any time.

Eaton, center, is a steady player. On most of Iowa's plays, the center passes the ball to the side and in the direction the runners are to go. This gives away with any delay in waiting for the ball.

Ah, well—what d'I care about railroad rates? I ain't going nowheres.

As a matter of fact, it's after they're going back to private hands that the roads want more jack. Anyway, figure out whichever way you want to, it's up to us to kick and kick in, and like it.

REICHLE TO PLAY END FOR ILLINI WITH MICHIGAN

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Dick Reichle appeared at right end on the Illini varsity tonight, regaining his old job from Smith. The Evanston lad has shown great promise, but needs a little more schooling, so Reichle probably will start against the Wolverines Saturday.

Otherwise, Zuppke intends to stand pat, and the only question which bothers him is whether to start Sternaman or Ralph Fletcher at left half back. Fletcher has been the man to deliver whenever called upon, but the scheme of introducing him in the second half has worked well.

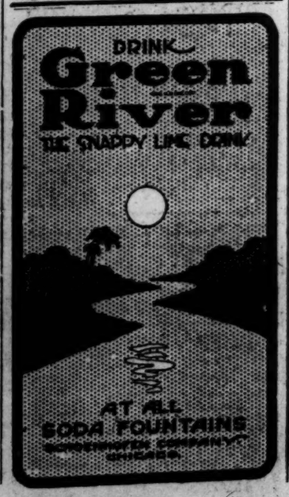
"State day" is to draw a horde of rooters from all over the sate, a big boom in ticket sales resulting today.

Yost Tries Several Shifts.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Shifting Vick from full to center, and then to guard, and shifting Culver from center to guard, and then back again, using Eades, a scrub, and Cruse, a half back, alternately at full and Knode at half in place of Cruse, Coach Yost kept the Wolverines going till they were ready to drop in their tracks. A guard and a tackle must be found before the Illinois game.

N. Y. U. WANTS FOOTBALL AGAIN

New York, Nov. 11.—The College of the City of New York will again be represented by a football team next season after a ten years' lapse, if the faculty, student body, and alumni are successful in efforts now being made. Formal application for a resumption of the game soon will be submitted to the college authorities, who suspended play in 1909 after the death of a player from injuries in a scrimmage.



ALL MAROON CRIPPLES READY TO PLAY WHEN TEAM HITS HAWKEYES

BY MAROON.

Scrimmage against the frosh, who have so improved that they no longer need ten downs to make distance, was the program on Stagg field for the University of Chicago football team. The varsity put over three touchdowns in an hour, but could have piled up the count had they not remained on defense most of the time under orders from Coach Stagg.

This Sounds Promising.

The cripples were not in the hot work. For the first time this year every man on the squad can start if needed, so the Midway director does not wish to bang up his convalescents simply to give them an hour's work on defense.

Crisler, McDonald, McGuire, Annan, and Jackson took light work, but all could have taken a stiff drill if necessary. McDonald and Crisler suffered minor bumps in the Michigan game, while McGuire, Jackson, and Annan have been hurt for three weeks and are in the stage now where two or three more days of easy work should put them in good form, while another bump might shelve them for the season.

A Paying Sport.

Waller Alumni Invited to Attend Football Contest

After an absence of several years from the gridiron, Waller High, successor to the old North Division High school, has been represented by a fast eleven in the lightweight ranks, and efforts are being made to stir the interest of the old-time North Division following in Saturday's game between Bown and Waller in division two of the city league race. The game will be played at De Paul field, and will tie the teams if Waller wins.

MOSTLY NEWS.

COMPARED with the last two or three weeks, nearby duck hunting is rather slack. The weather conditions have not been right, although there are many birds. The Fox lake preserve is full of 'em and lots of mallards are hiding in the marshes, but it will take a blow and some colder weather to get them to moving.

* *

Along the Illinois similar conditions prevail. Last Saturday one of the oldest members of the Swan Lake club said he saw more ducks than he ever lamped at one time before, and similar reports come from other parts of the river. They simply raft out in the lakes and will not move until evening, when they take to the ponds and corn fields to feed.

While the club hunters have had hard sledding, those who kept to the river have had fair blue bill shooting. We noticed several parties with the limit and they all said that they could have killed a wagon load.

As long as this weather prevails, and especially while the wind is in the east, hunters will do better on the river than back in the lakes and timber. Rodney Turner, district game warden and one of the best posted men on the river, says that an east wind is good for nothing, sportively speaking. Anglers, commercial fishermen, and duck hunters agree with him. Ye ed week ended at Henry, the guest of the Pontiac Gun club. The shooting was nothing extra, but a good time was had by all, including the ducks we failed to hit. Those Pontiac boys are a bunch of regular fellows.

* *

The quail season opened Monday in Illinois and Indiana. Those who hunted in the southern parts of both states got some birds, but nearby the shooting is poor. A number of parties have not yet been heard from, but those who have returned were somewhat disappointed.

* *

Rabbit hunters report unusually good luck for this time of the year. In the Fox lake country bunny hunting has been pretty good, especially for those who have dogs; similar news comes from the Kankakee river country.

THORNS NEED SUNDAY GAME.

"EVANSTON DAY" SET TO GIVE PURPLE PEP FOR INDIANA BATTLE

BY EVAN STONE.

Saturday will be "Evanston Day" at Northwestern athletic field, an occasion similar to Illinois' "State Day," at Urbana on the same date. It will be a follow-up of the homecoming celebration of last week, allowing the Evanston populace to turn out to review the football team which represents the university situated in their city.

'Twill be "Dollar Day."

Special sections of the stands will be reserved for citizens of the suburb. The Evanston Commercial association will attend en masse, as will the mayor and the city officials. Every year town merchants hold a "dollar day," when they sell a flock of goods at a dollar each. Following this custom Saturday will be the annual "Dollar Day," and the seats at the Purple-Indiana game will follow the custom.

The Purple eleven will have to pep up better than it did yesterday, if the dollar attendants Saturday are to get their money's worth. Two hours were spent in signal maneuvers and scrimmage with the fresh, and Coach Bachman was displeased with the older boys' deportment.

Use Old, Old Plays.

Coach Elliot's youngsters used the familiar Purple plays, instead of Indiana's, and allowed the varsity to hold the ball all through the proceedings. But the regulars made no headway, gummed up plays, and got nowhere near scoring during the hour.

Barney Friberg of Cubs Marries Schoolday Chum

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Bernard A. Friberg, Cub outfielder, and Miss Ruth Bernice Call were married at the latter's home Sunday. Friberg and his bride were in the same class at Ingalls grammar school and later graduated from Lynn English. Their baggage has been shipped to New York, as they left their trunks behind in their haste to escape a small army of rice throwers. They will reside in Meriden, Conn., until Friberg joins the Cubs in the spring.

At Football Camps

WISCONSIN.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Coach Richards is making no comment on the probable result of the Ohio State game, but is putting his Badgers through the stiffest kind of preparation for the contest, which will make or break Wisconsin's conference standing.

The varsity is scheduled for two or three strenuous workouts behind closed doors. Jacobi, Wisconsin's best bet at full back, has recovered completely from the injury which kept him on the side lines for two weeks, and is working smoothly at his old position.

IOWA.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Iowa took its first hard workout of the week in preparation for the Maroon game Saturday. Coaches Jones, Ashmore, and Sharp scrimmaged every team that appeared on the field.

The freshmen could do almost nothing with "Chicago plays," which they used against Jones' stars. Vainly hammering at the Hawkeye line, which played on the defensive throughout the scrimmage, the yearlings were unable to pierce the regulars' forward wall.

The eleven as a whole is in fine physical form and going like a steam engine.

INDIANA.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The final scrimmage for Indiana before the Northwestern game was held this evening. The workouts tomorrow and Thursday will consist of running signals only. The squad of about twenty-two players will leave Friday morning for Chicago. Tonight the scrubs scrimmaged the varsity for sometime and two touchdowns were made by the first team. When the freshmen went in with the Northwestern plays they made one touchdown on the varsity when Quarter Back Matthews got away for a forty yard run. The Indians team is showing great improvement in its interference, and unless there are fresh injuries will be in fine shape for the Purple. The big pep feast of the rooters will be staged on Thursday evening.

Camp Grant Grid Team Defeats Rockford, 3 to 0

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Camp Grant eleven defeated Rockford Amateur Athletic club team, 3 to 0, in an Armistice day game. Barcalow made a drop kick from the twenty yard line in the third quarter for the soldiers' score.

COUGH UP, BOWLERS! PRICE FOR PLAYING RAISED TO 20 CENTS

Bowlers will pay "20 cents a game, or two may shoot the ball for 35 cents." That will be the price beginning Saturday at all bowling alleys in Chicago, action to this effect being taken at a meeting of the managers of the alleys in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

The unerring toe of Half Back Bethig won a scant victory for Pullman Manual Training against its neighborhood rival, Morgan Park High, 3 to 0, on the Pullman Tech field. In the first period, after the tech schoolers had rushed the oval thirty yards from the Morgan Park goal, Bethig booted a place kick that decided the game. The same player squirmed through on a forty yard run to Morgan Park's five yard line, when the final whistle ended the game.

ST. CLEMENTS, 12; ST. IGNATIUS, 6.

St. Clements defeated St. Ignatius yesterday at Loyola Field, 12 to 6, retaining the championship of the north side grammar school parochial school league. St. Ignatius, although slightly outweighed, put up a game fight, but could not stop the smashing line plunges of St. Clements.

ST. JOHN'S PREPS DEFEAT DE PAUL; SCORE IS 27 TO 0

Lawrence, Mass., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Playing in a chilly drizzle, which rendered the footing sloppy and discommoded the lighter western eleven, St. Johns Preparatory school of Danvers defeated De Paul academy of Chicago, 27 to 0, in the armistice day attraction at O'Sullivan field.

A large crowd braved the weather to attend, but was disappointed in the uneven game. De Paul's main prowess was in the last ditch defense, and this holding power was often needed.

Fumbles by De Paul.

The playing superiority was clearly in St. Johns' favor in every department. De Paul's fumbles alone were enough to queer its chances to win. St. Johns scored a touchdown in each quarter, fumbles making two scores easy.

The Chicago team was expected to put up a fast open attack, but failed, completing only one forward pass. The teams met twice before in Chicago, and St. Johns now holds two victories to one.

Long Trip Is Hurtful.

De Paul appeared off its best form after the long train ride and scanty opportunity to practice. Had its offensive work been anything like its grim defense, the score would have been lower. St. Johns had about twelve pounds to a man the better of the weights. Lineup:

Yale Is 5 to 3 Favorite Over Princeton Eleven

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Betting has dropped here to 5 to 3 against Princeton for Saturday's game. Last week considerable money was wagered at evens. The change in the outlook has been caused largely by Yale's ability to score 14 points against the strong Brown eleven Saturday.

"Poor Relations," now on a tour of the neighborhood houses, aroused much interest by the announcement that it was made from the old Sol Smith Russell play. Those who saw the latter, however, tell me that they were grievously disappointed, and that the former entirely lacks the homely charm and power of the original.

The story hinges on a girl, sister to Zasu, who goes to the city, makes good, and marries wealthy, and is obliged to realize the difference between her simple folks and her husband's aristocratic people.

Only, the director has made of the supposed blue bloods a cheap and badly bred lot, where he meant, I am sure, to merely show them up as careless and self-satisfied.

NOTE OF SCREENDOM

Balaban and Katz's downtown theater will be called The Capitol," for the reason that it is to be the largest of any of their theaters and will be their executive headquarters. This theater is to be located on the east side of State street between Lake and Randolph streets. Building operations will begin early in the spring when the existing leases expire.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—"And then the Fairy Prince came and slew the wicked ogre of Look-Just-Alike and they all lived happily ever after with violet and green and any color they liked." Thus might read the fairy tale of little girls' clothes, in which, of course, the children's designer gets the leading rôle.

That even in the combination of velvet coat and checked woolen skirt—long favored for small girls' afternoon wear—we get a pleasing amount of variability is proved by the accompanying cut. Instead of being black or navy blue velvet, the bodice of this frock is dark green, while a green and tan check skirt supplants the familiar shepherd's plaid.

What is most unusual is the underblouse of plaited tan chiffon, used in place of the white china silk or muslin guimpe, which usually accompanies this kind of costume.

REFILLING SILOS

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Many silos will be emptied during November and December. This is often the case when large dairy herds are kept or beef cattle are fed. On many farms there is only one silo when two or more could be used, but even when this is the case farmers can make one silo the equivalent of two by refilling with corn fodder or stover. Corn fodder made into silage is not as valuable as silage made from the green plants in the fall, but the value of the stalks and blades may be greatly increased by storing them in the silo.

The refilling season usually comes during January and February, when there is little work to do on the farm.

The scarcity of roughage in many sections of the country and the high prices on feed in general makes the refilling of silos more important this year than ever before.

When the silo is filled with fodder that has been shocked in the field, the blades and stalks are usually very dry, and the making of silage from this material requires the addition of abundance of water. A safe rule followed by most farmers is to add as much water as there is fodder. For every 100 pounds of fodder add 100 pounds of water. There is little danger of using too much water, in fact, the trouble usually occurs when there is a lack of water. The water should be added after the fodder has been run through the silage cutter.

Some add it with a hose as the material passes through the blower, while others sprinkle the chopped up fodder after it passes into the silo. Silage is inclined to mold when there is a lack of moisture. The water must be added in a uniform manner during the process of filling. The ears may or may not be removed before the cutting is done.

If fodder is allowed to remain in the field too long it deteriorates and loses much of its feeding value, and when it is used in refilling silos the work should be done by the last of February.

The other night he asked me to become his wife. If I should consent I would attain a high social position. As my father is dead, he will be like a father to me. Will you please advise me on this important subject? ANNE."

Anne, at 19 even you ought to have a lot more sense than to think of suicide just for social position and money. I am afraid if that's the kind of a girl you are the chances of the young man making you happy or making himself happy by marrying you will be nil. Shame on you, Anne!

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

FLATFOOT: BROKEN ARCH OR flatfoot has many symptoms, such as pain in the hips; sometimes a greater distress in the legs than in the feet, sometimes accompanied by a general let-down feeling due to the pain and nervous strain. It is well for every individual to investigate thoroughly his foot condition and note whether he has the habit of toeing out with a downward and inward bend of the ankle. One test of efficient feet is the ability to hop around on the ball of the foot. Walk with toes straight ahead or even slightly inward rather than outward. Tiptoeing exercises strengthen the arches. And do this one: Sit with feet parallel and pull toes under forcibly, and back to position. Do this five times; then again with feet parallel raise inner border up and out, knees straight, toes and heels on floor; replace.

JAMES: CALLOUSED SPOTS ON your feet may be rubbed with pumice stone, and softened with vaseline.

A Friend in Need

Sally Joy Brown

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

In Desperate Need.

"Has any one a coal stove for a family in really desperate need? The mother is in a hospital now. The father is dead and a son of 16 is the only support of the little home. The daughter, 11 years old, is trying to go to school and keep house too. A. H."

Thank you for calling our attention to this case. I do hope some one who has a discarded stove will send it to you for them.

Hymnal and Notes.

"If any one has an old church hymnal with notes, which they no longer want, I should love to have it and will gladly pay postage.

Bright Sayings of Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, Tribune, Chicago.

Two little nieces of mine have been in the habit of attending Sunday school regularly during the summer. As it was raining slightly one Sunday their mother sent them with an umbrella. They were gone about twenty minutes, when they returned. Upon being questioned as to why they returned so soon they answered: "We touldn't dit in." Their mother, thinking it was strange, asked whether there wasn't some one around that could have opened the door for them. They said: "We tould dit in all right, but the 'brella touldn't dit in." S. V. D.

David and Arthur shared a bed together, but did not get along well in doing so, for nearly every night there was some disturbance between them.

Bobby had a slight toothache, which he made a big fuss about. Daddy loved him a bit, then said, "Here's a quarter, go buy a ball and play, then maybe you'll forget about the aching tooth." Bobby, rushing to his mother, displayed the money, saying, "Golly, papa's easy. He gave me a quarter when I only had about 5 cents' worth of toothache." C. B. C.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Good Cold Weather Soups.

Families who know not how infinitely changeable and always pretty and palatable pea and bean soup may be should go about making the discovery at once. They are about the best of cold weather soups, and a splendid sort of supply, since they are improved in almost every case by a second cooking or warming up. They are simple to make and more solid in food values than most soups, having of both protein and calories considerable portions.

Split green peas cook most quickly and seem to have the mildest flavor. Pick over and wash one cup of these (take no others when you ask for green and split peas) and put this cup to soak in four cups of cold water with one onion and one carrot sliced. Let the water slowly come to a boil, then lower the gas flame and allow to just simmer until the peas are soft; usually two hours is quite enough, but old peas may require longer. Celery may be used instead of the onion.

Provided with a strainer with a firm standard of its own the task of sieving the peas to get a smooth puree is easy. Press them through the strainer with a wooden spoon. The puree you get may be adapted variously. To perfect its flavor you may add some butter to it and stir it rapidly in the frying pan over a hot fire until it is quite dry, and may be served just that way, after the necessary salt and other seasonings to taste are added. But diluted to an agreeable point with part hot milk and cream or just milk, or with part meat stock and a bit of cream or how you will, you may get one of the nicest of soups.

St. James's Church Will Celebrate 85th Anniversary

BY THE REV. F. L. GRATIOT.

St. James's church, Cass and Huron streets, will celebrate its eighty-fifth anniversary next Suhday. The oldest Episcopal church in Chicago, and one of the oldest of all the city's churches, it has been the place of worship for many of Chicago's founders and chief builders.

The first Episcopal service held in Chicago was on Oct. 12, 1834, by the Rev. Palmer Dyer. On Nov. 2 a parish was organized, largely through the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Kinzie, and named St. James's after the parish in New London, Conn. The first rector and organizer was the Rev. Isaac Hallam.

Sunday marked exactly the eighty-fifth anniversary of the first service, which took place on Nov. 9, 1834. It was held in an auction store on North Water street near Dearborn avenue. There were twelve present, including Mrs. Magill, Mrs. John H. Kinzie, Mrs. Isaac Hallam, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnson.

By Easter of 1835 the first elected vestry was organized. It included Dr. William B. Egan, Dr. Phillip Maxwell, Giles Spring, John H. Kinzie, Gurdon S. Hubbard, Dr. W. Clark, John M. Wilson, and William Pettit. In July ground was broken for the first edifice "in the midst of a vast tract of wild prairie" known as "the commons" at the southern corner of Cass street between Illinois and Michigan streets. Land was given by the Kinzies. The building was of brick, thirty by fifty feet, and cost $3,000.

The new church, built at Cass and Huron streets in 1861, was destroyed by the Chicago fire in 1871, only the present tower standing. It was rebuild along the lines of its original plan.

TWO CONCERTS AND THREE RECITALS

BY W. L. HUBBARD.

Two concerts and three recitals, enlisting the services of three singers, two solo pianists, two violinists, and five accompanists were the musical offerings in Chicago yesterday. Otherwise it was a day of tonal calm.

The merriment began with the Kinsolving Morning Musical in the ballroom of the Blackstone at 11 o'clock. It was the first of the series and an audience abundant to the last available place in room and balcony was in attendance. Mme. Miura, the Japanese soprano, and Jacques Thibaud, the French violinist, were the soloists. Mme. Miura, gorgeous in costume of her native land, charmed by personality and also by vocal skill. Her selections ranged from the arias from "Butterfly" and "Pagliacci" to a song from "The Geisha" and "Mother Machree," but all afforded genuine pleasure, for the little soprano sings with a purity of tone, a technical accuracy, and an intelligence that accomplish the artistic, and her diction is such that many of her occidental sister and brother artists might copy with advantage to their art. Mr. Thibaud has long stood acknowledged for the elegance and finish of his violinism and yesterday these virtues were enjoyably in evidence.

In the afternoon at the Blackstone theater Ethel Jones gave a song recital which proved in uncommon degree satisfying and admirable. Possessed of a warm, sympathetic, and thoroughly schooled voice, gifted with the power to "tell the poem" both by word and by skillful variation in tonal color, blessed with musicianship and also interpretative sensitiveness and sense, she is a recitalist it was genuine pleasure to hear. Her program was interesting and attractively arranged, and with ideal accompaniments supplied by Olive Kriebs the afternoon became one of joy.

In the evening at Medinah temple, Maud Powell and Anna Case were applauded to the echo by the large audience which attended the second of the Central Concert company's series. Miss Powell is still mistress supreme of her violin and her art, and from every number she played last evening the lover of beautiful tone, finished, rounded technic, and big musical grasp and sympathy derived keen gratification and pleasure. Miss Case is as ever a vision of loveliness and her singing has many merits and charms. Could she but master the correct handling of her upper tones her work would compel hearty approval. As it is, only when she sings numbers remaining wholly within the middle and lower portions of the voice, or wherein the high tones are used softly, does she completely satisfy.

In Orchestra hall Mischa Levitzki was heard in piano recital by a moderately filled house. The young man has acquired much in the mastery of his art, all the technical proficiency present-day virtuosoship demands being at his disposal, and good musical intelligence governing and guiding its use. But his work as yet is almost wholly intellectual. It commands respect and a certain degree of approval, but it does not move. Later he may develop a heart to match his head, and he then will be a pianist of true power.

In Kimball hall Cecil Lipschutz accomplished her professional debut as a pianist, being listened to by a large assemblage of friends. The young girl still shows all the traces of the studio, but among them and through them shine out from time to time gleams that tell of individuality and musical personality. She has achieved much; further work, retirement for a few years from public appearances and sane normal development should enable her to take a place of worth among pianists.

WEDDINGS

Miss Isabelle Macfarlane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Macfarlane, 5132 Woodlawn avenue, was married last night to Herbert E. Kerber, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Kerber, 5510 Hyde Park boulevard, at the Kenwood Evangelical church. A feature of the wedding ceremony was the cushion on which the ring was carried. It came from Scotland, and has been a family heirloom for more than 100 years. It was given the bride by her aunt, Mrs. W. Liddell. Mrs. Kerber's father is vice president and treasurer of Morris & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Baker of 7048 Princeton avenue celebrated their golden wedding Nov. 10. Mr. Baker has been a board of trade man for more than thirty years, and was a captain in the 64th Ohio volunteer regiment, serving four years.

Shifting the Scenery.

My chum in training camp invited me to act as best man at his wedding a year ago. As the wedding was to be a correct military affair, there were some difficulties to overcome.

The church was a small one and had only an old fashioned organ to the right of the pulpit platform and had no rear door. Nothing daunted, the bride, wishing to have the minister, bridegroom, and myself advance from the opposite end of the building as she came down the aisle, had planned an arrangement of screens in line with the organ behind which we were to stand and from which we were to advance when the organist began to play the wedding march. Unfortunately, the organist had not been told of the plans for us, and as he seated himself and began to play he felt the need of more light. As the screen was in the way of the electric switch he got up to remedy it, and in doing so he pulled away the screen from before us. We little realised what he was doing until we saw that he had exposed to the full view of the assembled audience three tall men crouched down behind the five foot screen in attitudes certainly far from dignified.

The surprise on the face of the organist and our dismay were too much for the composure of the guests, and instead of advancing to the solemn music the bride was greeted by roars of laughter as she entered the church.

Cardinal von Hartmann, War Figure, Is Dead

During the early days of the war he caused adverse comment in Germany by issuing a pastoral letter directing that a petition for peace be included in the prayers of Catholics.

In the latter part of 1915 he was sent to Rome by the then Emperor William on a mission to the pope that was supposed to have peace for its object.

In May, 1918, in response to Cardinal Hartmann's request, the allies refrained from air attacks on Cologne on Corpus Christi day.

On Secret Service —in Mexico

BY DR. PAUL BERNARDO ALTENDORF.

ONE SPY DEFEATED.

Soriano was lieutenant governor; or, at least, his position corresponded to that of a lieutenant governor on this side of the boundary. Moreover, he was a "Deutscherfrerser"; i. e., a "German eater," or German hater, to speak in American vernacular, as Schwiertz had told me with a warning to beware of him. As may be imagined, it was with no unwilling steps that I wended my way toward the Palacia Gobierno. I was sure that in Soriano I should find a willing ally in ridding Mexico of Schwiertz. On the street I almost bumped into O'Connor, whom I persuaded to go with me to Soriano, to whom he unburdened himself.

Soriano had done his utmost to persuade Calles not to have anything to do with Schwiertz, but the governor was obstinate. He was eager to make an appointment for O'Connor and myself to see Calles the next day and prove that he was right and Calles was wrong.

At the conference next day Calles concluded that Schwiertz was unfit for his post; still he would not give Soriano the satisfaction of making such an admission unequivocally.

I said I wanted to go to El Claro and remove my belongings from that place, to which Calles agreed. On the third day after my arrival in Hermosillo, I returned to Santa Ana on the train. Schwiertz was waiting for me.

"Warning" to a Spy.

We two went on horseback to El Claro. On the way I warned Schwiertz to be careful; otherwise he might have some trouble. I told him Calles knew all about the stolen car and the sixty-seven sacks of ore and asked him if his books would bear inspection; but I did not tell him that Calles had sent a man on the train with me to take possession of those books. This gave Schwiertz an idea. He quickened his pace, and on arriving at El Claro rushed into the office and summoned Ostermann in haste to enter the sale of the car and the ore in the books so that Calles might find everything all right.

Now, these transactions had taken place in April and the books had been balanced and the accounts for that month closed. But a trifle like this did not worry Schwiertz. By his orders Ostermann entered the sale below the closed account and dated the entry in September. He felt immensely satisfied with his cleverness when the officer sent by Calles turned up an hour later and got the books.

Called In by Calles.

Next day came a telegram from Calles for Schwiertz to report to him immediately. Schwiertz began to have some misgivings. He asked me to go with him to Hermosillo.

Calles was waiting for us in his office with Schwiertz's book open on the desk before him. After a frigid greeting Calles plunged at once into the heart of the subject:

"Major, you have made a fool of yourself. You made this entry the day the doctor arrived at El Claro. If you had not made it the matter would not look so bad as it does now. I don't want to give Soriano the satisfaction of firing you. I will appoint you jefe de policia de la frontera with twenty-one men. I do not want to go into any more details of affairs at El Claro. Dr. Altendorf will take charge."

Trap Baited Carefully.

Knowing Schwiertz as I did, his new job seemed to be a providential means of accelerating his departure from Mexico. There was a Dr. Arnold von Scheck in Hermosillo who wanted to obtain drugs from the United States. Incidentally, he was a German spy.

Jones had delivered my report and returned. Late that night I had him come to my room, where I told him to go to Von Scheck and induce him to ask Schwiertz to smuggle some drugs across the border for him. Von Scheck did as suggested. Schwiertz thought the idea a fine one, as he was chief of border police and could do anything he wanted.

Within forty-eight hours Von Scheck had made out an invoice of drugs wanted, amounting to about four thousand dollars, and had given a copy to Jones to hand to Schwiertz along with an advance payment of $200 for which Schwiertz signed a receipt which specified the precise service that he was to perform. Under the arrangement Jones was to go to the United States and buy the drugs which he was to turn over to Schwiertz, who would deliver them to Von Scheck after collecting the remainder of his fee for passing them into the country duty free.

Drug Buying Expedition.

Accordingly, Jones left at once for Nogales, ostensibly on a drug-buying expedition, but in reality to carry my report to the Military Intelligence Department, announcing among other things that the department might henceforth consider Schwiertz a dead one.

"Did you get the drugs?" asked Von Scheck.

"No, a man came up to me in Nogales while I was buying them and wanted to know whom I was buying for. I knew him for a secret service man and I was afraid I was going to be arrested. So I skipped out the back way and hurried across the border and came back. And that isn't the worst of it. Coming through Santa Ana I met a friend who told me that the whole business is known. Schwiertz is in bad with Calles, you know, and to square himself and show what an honest man he is he has written to Calles all about your attempt to bribe an officer. The best thing you can do is to leave the country without delay."

Von Scheck in Flight.

This frightened Von Scheck so that he left Hermosillo within an hour and fled to Torres, twenty miles by rail, south of Hermosillo, where he hid for three days; then he went on to Culiacan.

As soon as Von Scheck was out of the way I took the receipt for the $200 he had paid Schwiertz to Calles, who immediately wired Schwiertz to return to Hermosillo. Meanwhile that gentleman had gone to Caborca, his future headquarters, where he was to meet Jones with the drugs. As Caborca is nearly two days' ride from the railroad he found the telegram awaiting him on his arrival.

I had taken advantage of Schwiertz's absence to tell Gen. Calles that I had found out from an American agent named Page (who had no existence save in my imagination) that the major was in reality an American spy; that he had delivered in the hands of the Americans all the secrets of Calles' office and all the secrets of the German embassy. I also said that Schwiertz had sold material that should have gone to the Mexican government to the Americans, and that I had a witness to prove it right then and there in Hermosillo. Calles, greatly shocked, naturally expressed a desire to see the witness. This was none other than Friend Jones, who, having been duly coached by myself, testified that he had bought material from Schwiertz, as alleged.

Calles is Convinced.

When Schwiertz was called to the palace Calles received him alone. Holding out the receipt for the $200 paid by Von Scheck the governor demanded:

"What is the meaning of this? I sent you to the border on duty and I find that you have arranged to engage in smuggling at once."

"You had better tell me the truth. This is the last chance I shall give you."

Called to Confront Him.

Schwiertz began a labored explanation designed to show that while he had accepted the money he had not undertaken the smuggling enterprise for the sake of mere gain; but Calles cut him short, saying:

"I am going to bring in a man who will tell you something more; who can tell you what you are and what you have been doing."

Upon this summons I entered from a side room. Calles and Schwiertz both were standing. Schwiertz was evidently surprised at my appearance. He was still more surprised by what followed, for I opened up on him at once. As soon as we had all three taken seats at a small table, at Calles' request, I asked:

"Schwiertz, when are you going to pay me the money you owe me? Gen. Calles gave you $400 for me, but you denied to me that you ever received it. You are a thief."

Denounced as Traitor.

Schwiertz gasped in amazement. He had lost his tongue, so astounding to him was the turn events were taking. I gave him no chance to recover. Pointing my finger at him I continued:

"You are a traitor! This man, general, is an American spy. He has sold the secrets from your office, secrets from the office of the German ambassador. He has sold the German codes and the Mexican codes to an American agent named Page. If Von Eckhardt knew what has happened here he would have this man killed."

Being still speechless, Schwiertz replied in the only manner he could think of. He sprang up and aimed a blow at my face, which I dodged. Calles was on his feet almost at the same instant, with revolver drawn. Covering the enraged Schwiertz, he exclaimed:

"If you make another move I will shoot you down like a dog. Leave the room immediately."

Warned to Quit Country.

Schwiertz now found his tongue and tried to offer some explanation, but Calles cut him short, saying:

"I will not hear a word. You are a scoundrel. Leave the country in twenty-four hours."

As Schwiertz slunk out of the room Calles called in Col. Garcia and said:

"Follow that man and see that he leaves the country within twenty-four hours, and tell him that if he attempts any move against Dr. Altendorf I will have him done away with."

PEGASUS FINDS NO STALL, FLIES FROM CHICAGO.

Poet Dunsany Quits Us, Seeking a Hotel That Isn't Crowded.

Happily, Lord Dunsany's first visit to Chicago was brief. Had he not taken an 11 o'clock train for Minneapolis last night, he might have had to walk the streets. No hotel reservations had been made for him, and none could be made. The hotels are overcrowded. Further, he has been unable to make reservations against his return to Chicago for four days, on the 17th, when Lady Dunsany and her maid will also be here to share his inconvenience.

Your reporter found the very lanky Irish baron, poet, playwright, fairy tale writer, and soldier attempting to rest his generous frame by stretching out over five chairs placed close together in an anteroom at the Blackstone. His head was propped upon a telephone directory and a portmanteau, and his legs reached an appalling distance beyond the combined length of the chairs.

An Unhappy Plight.

He looked uncomfortable. He was in a yellowish great coat; his hair was mussed; his hands were soiled, and he was in a disagreeable frame of mind (not toward his interviewers, but toward every one who might remotely have contributed to his plight).

"I really must wash my hands," he said, making for the door. "I am perpetuating the libel against my fellow poets that they are unclean. But, you see, there's no wash basin in this room; my bags have been dumped in here temporarily; and I presume I shall have to sleep on the sidewalk. Not so bad when you are soldiering. I slept very well on sidewalks and worse places then. But I haven't been soldiering for some eighteen months, so I have rather lost the hang of it."

U. S. First Recognized Him.

From the interview these facts were developed:

America and Russia were the first countries to recognize and appreciate him as an artist.

He wrote for fifteen years what he thought were good prose tales and no one paid any attention to them; he wrote plays, and they were recognized in America, and later generally. He bows to the public verdict and is now inclined to rate his plays above his stories.

His play, "Fame and the Poet," is not autobiographical except in that, in a way, it suggests the common lot of all poets who become famous.

Writes Seldom.

He does not like aesthetes or "precious" literature, or "people who place a dandelion in a vase and say—'Isn't it wonderful.'"

His neighbors and relations in Ireland never think of him as a literary man, but as a soldier, and most of them don't even know he writes. If they did, they wouldn't take his literature seriously.

He wrote a one act play on his way to St. Louis, and he has written two other plays since the signing of the armistice. He writes seldom, however, and very little at a time.

"Discover" $1,875,000 Extra Telephone Funds

Attorneys for the city in the telephone company's rate hearing before the public utilities commission "discovered" $1,875,000 yesterday during the cross examination of U. F. Cleveland, accountant for the company.

Mr. Cleveland had reported $1,266,589 to be the company's estimated net income from Jan. 1 to Aug. 1 of this year. The "discovery" came when on cross examination by Assistant Corporation Counsel Roberts, Mr. Cleveland admitted that his report made no mention of the $1,875,000 which the company claims from the government on its contracts. This sum, according to Mr. Roberts, is divisable among stock holders.

SEITHAMIER GIRL PUT IN CUSTODY FOR FOUR YEARS

Ordered to House of Good Shepherd Till of Age.

BY LEOLA ALLARD.

Judge Victor P. Arnold of the Juvenile court yesterday declared Margaret Seithamier a delinquent girl and sent her to the House of the Good Shepherd until she shall be 21.

"Willful and disobedient," he called her, and said that society owe it to Margaret to protect her from herself and put her away until she appreciates what freedom means.

Margaret was quiet when she heard her sentence, but when she was taken from court to await the sheriff, who was to accompany her to the House of the Good Shepherd, she threatened to do serious damage. "I'll commit another murder," she shouted, "before I'll stay there. I won't be there a month, you see if I am. One man to take me over there? Only one? Huh!"

Ignores Trial Evidence.

The court did not admit one scintilla of evidence that was heard at the girl's trial for the murder of Attorney Benjamin Burr. He read the law on what constitutes a delinquent child, and there was no argument. Margaret came under that head in more than one way, though her morality was not at any time taken into question. It was admitted that she was moral except for her affair with Burr.

"We have given this girl every chance," said the court, "and have shown her every consideration. At no time has she responded to our kindly treatment. Her difficulty was that she did not, could not, and would not submit to discipline. I do not feel justified in speculating any further with this girl. Nothing would justify me in putting her in a private home. I have a responsibility in this case. That experiment has been tried over and over again."

"An Unusual Girl."

Margaret's attorney, W. W. O'Brien, said his client was an unusual girl. J. J. Viterna, assistant state's attorney, assigned Monday night by State's Attorney Hoyne to the case, answered that Margaret "was unusual and has escaped the clutches of the law in an unusual manner.

Margaret's mother, weeping continuously, had blame heaped upon her from every source. She had, so the testimony ran, moved the furniture out at one time and left Margaret, as a little girl, to beg bedclothes from neighbors. There were sordid tales of immorality. The child smiled through it all, but her mother shivered and wept.

The Juvenile Detention home has been a place of tumult since Margaret went there, and it was with a sigh of relief and some sympathy that Miss Collins turned her over to the sisters for a four year stay.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

An epidemic of inaccuracy on the part of various photograph agencies has been responsible for several errors in recent issues of THE TRIBUNE. Most of the mistakes are caught and corrected before they find their way into the columns of this newspaper, but a few inevitably "get by."

An example appeared in the rotogravure section of Sunday, Nov. 9—a photograph supplied by the International Film service and identified by them as a view of Tarbes, France, the birthplace of Marshal Foch. Many readers have called attention to the fact that this was a view not of Tarbes but of Lourdes and its famous Basilique—which is quite true. The International Film service has no explanation to offer. Another case, in which THE TRIBUNE'S foreign photo service was victimized, involved the publication on Nov. 2 of a picture of the Excelsior Palace hotel, described in the photographer's legend as a landmark of Fiume. As a matter of fact, the building is in Trieste, and has not figured at all in the sensational exploits of Gabriele D'Annunzio, which it was supposed to illustrate.

The photograph of Marshal Foch published in the rotogravure section on Sunday, Nov. 9, identified him as "Field Marshal of France." The title should be simply "Marshal of France."

Judge Sees Boy, 10, Attempting to Steal Car

Judge Howard Hayes of South Clark street court, looking out of a window of the police station yesterday, saw a boy of 10 years trying to start his car. He took the youngster, Mike Higrello, 2545 Wallace street, into custody, and gave him to Detectives Twohy and Gilso, who handed him over to Sergt. Patrick Hamilton of the bureau auto section.

BANDITS' VICTIM, DYING, POINTS TO HIS ASSAILANT

Jacob Kane, furrier and ladies' tailor, last night shortly before he died, identified Michael Joseph Stack, 6915 Emerald avenue, as the man who shot him.

Kane was fatally wounded by two of five men who tried to rob the shop, 539 East Forty-third street, a week ago last night. Arthur Werner, alias Arthur Rogers, a member of the Stack gang, has already been identified by Kane as the companion of the man who fired the fatal shot.

Arrest by Sergt. Hamilton.

Sergt. Patrick Hamilton of the auto section of the detective bureau and his men, who arrested Stack, Werner, Pat Flaherty, Dan Corcoran, and Michael O'Brien, alias Louis Flaherty, were present at the deathbed when the identification was made.

Kane stretched out a thin, white hand and, pointing at Stack, said: "That is the man, the stout man I told you about—the man who took my life." He knew the end was not far off.

Miss E. M. Wilson and I. M. Kane, the furrier's son, witnesses of the shooting, also identified Stack.

Seized as Auto Thieves.

Hamilton's men had arrested the Stack gang as auto thieves who made a business of selling stolen cars to Benton Harbor customers. Judge Hayes discharged them when they were arraigned before him on three charges of larceny.

The judge freed them because the Benton Harbor people didn't appear to prosecute, he said. Hamilton rearrested the men, put seven more charges against them, and took a continuance until Nov. 20. He says he will have the purchasers of the autos come in and prosecute or he will have them indicted.

Former Board Trade Man, 86 Years Old, Missing

George F. Ramer, 6612 University avenue, head of an accounting firm at 10 South La Salle street, notified the police last night of the disappearance of his friend, George B. Tobey, 86 years old, a former member of the Chicago Board of Trade.

Deaths in Chicago by Automobiles in 1919 to date: 360

James Jens, 7 years old, of 2300 West Grand avenue, died in the Norwegian American hospital yesterday of injuries received last Saturday when he was struck by an automobile. The attending physician, Dr. Ebel Sletsema, and the hospital authorities refused to give out any information regarding the accident.

Frank Victor, 11 years old, of 1304 Wade street, who was injured Sunday by an automobile truck owned and driven by Charles Nuinow, 1228 North Leavitt street, died at St. Mary's hospital. Nuinow, who had been arrested and released, was again taken into custody.

WIFE REBELS AS BABY PAYS PRICE OF ART CAREERS

When both parents aspire to artistic careers, the children may suffer and domestic happiness fly out of the window. Mrs. Mary Gilchrist, an artist's model, who dances in the chorus of a loop show, appealed to Judge Sheridan E. Fry in the Court of Domestic Relations yesterday to solve her domestic difficulties. Lawrence Gilchrist, her husband, a drama critic and playwright, appeared with her. He was charged with nonsupport of his wife and Charlotte, the 4 year old daughter.

"My husband is unable to hold a steady position and dislikes to work as a clerk," Mrs. Gilchrist testified. "Our child is now in a school at Mattoon, but I wish her with me and will need more money to take care of her."

"Who will attend to the child when you are at the theater?" asked Judge Fry.

"I have a landlady whom I can trust," said Mrs. Gilchrist, "and I have the entire day to give to Charlotte. I am lonesome without her."

Gilchrist said he was unable to find steady employment as a drama critic.

"I dislike to give up the work I love just to earn more money," he told the judge.

"A home is worth more than a career; don't let your ambitions wreck the happiness of your wife and the future of your child," replied Judge Fry. "Pay your wife $5 a week for the child."

TWO PRINCIPALS DENY CHARGES OF VON FRANTZIUS

Administrator Asserts Broker's Books Were in a Tangle.

Gustave Fischer, administrator of the estate of Frederick von Frantzius, Chicago broker and art collector, declared yesterday that the books of Von Frantzius & Co. were so involved, when he took charge of them at the senior partner's death in 1917, it was impossible to tell whether the business was a bucket shop or not.

Ben Marcuse, Von Frantzius' former partner, who is now the principal partner in Marcuse & Co., 122 South La Salle street, took issue with Mr. Fischer. He declared Von Frantzius & Co. had never bucketed a share, and the books were quite clear in that regard.

Fischer's Removal Sought.

Mr. Fischer, whose removal as administrator is sought in a court proceeding instituted by Peter von Frantzius, the dead broker's son, on the ground that the $2,000,000 estate has been reduced to insolvency, added that usually brokerage accounts made bucketing apparent.

But he said that accountants had labored for weeks in attempting to straighten Von Frantzius' affairs and had not entirely succeeded.

Mr. Marcuse, whom young Von Frantzius accuses of acquiring a trusteeship in behalf of Von Frantzius & Co.'s alleged bogus customers and subsequently purchasing $1,000,000 worth of the senior Von Frantzius' genuine securities at greatly less than their true value, was certain, on the other hand, that the books must have made the legitimacy of the trades apparent at once.

Fischer Stands Pat.

Mr. Fischer explained that he was ready to stand by the record of his transactions in the Probate court—the record from which, Von Frantzius asserts, the facts in his petition are taken.

It was called to the administrator's attention that the charges cite one alleged instance in which 39,175 out of 42,812 shares of Wabash "A" preferred stock were transferred to Marouse at a loss to the estate of $201,511.

"What became of the remainder?" he was asked.

"It was sold for more than Marcuse had agreed to pay. Our contract permitted us to do that."

"But why wasn't all of it sold, instead of being held for Marcuse's acceptance?"

"Because the market wouldn't absorb it."

Later Mr. Fischer said brokers were "laying for the Von Frantzius block of Wabash."

"You mean they were anxious to buy?"

"Yes, they wanted it," he said.

Statement by Marcuse.

Mr. Marcuse gave out the following typewritten statement:

"My proposition to purchase the stocks and bonds in the Von Frantzius estate was made in open court and by order of Judge Horner a written copy of my proposition was sent to each and every one of the creditors, and they were given time within which to study the proposition and to make objections to same in open court, if any they had. When the day for the making of objections arrived, no objections appeared, and the court confirmed my proposition and instructed the administrators to accept same.

"The proposition was made on the basis of market values as of March 31, 1917. The stocks and bonds were finally turned over to me Aug. 1, 1917, by which time the market had slumped to a considerable extent, so that instead of making money out of the transaction, as is alleged in the petition of Peter von Frantzius, I suffered a considerable loss.

"The statement made in the petition to the effect that I was indebted to Frederick W. von Frantzius to the extent of $1,354,429 is an absolute falsehood. I was not indebted to Von Frantzius to any sum whatever. As a matter of fact, Mr Von Frantzius owed me considerable money, but I waived my own personal claim."

Explains "$1,354,000 Loss."

Mr. Marcuse said he had stopped an order by his former partner to purchase 50,000 shares of Wabash because in his judgment the order could not be executed. When Von Frantzius discovered the fact, he said, he charged him with the $1,354,000 loss. He denied sending out a letter—as charged in the petition—advising creditors to remain away from court on the day objections to his purchase of the securities was to be heard because his lawyer would represent them.

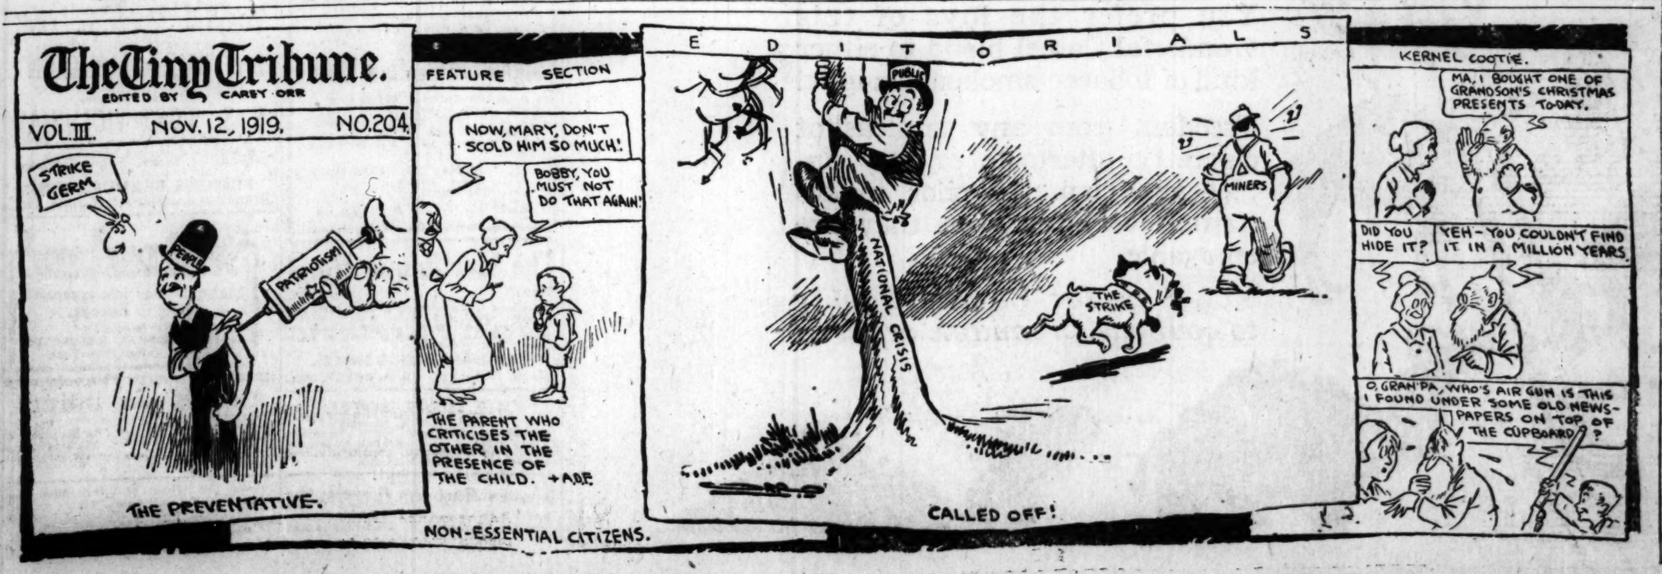
Statement by J. M. Finn.

Joseph M. Finn of Finn & Heiman Theatrical agency, a special partner of Marcuse, made the following statement through his attorneys, Stein, Mayer & David:

"A charge is made against Mr. Finn that he received 500 shares of Big Ledge Copper company stock, worth 2,500 free of charge, and that a dividend of $200 was paid him on Anaconda stock, which the estate never owned.

"The facts are that Mr. Finn purchased 500 shares of the Big Ledge Copper stock from the firm of Von Frantzius & Co. and paid $7.50 a share therefor. The stock was not delivered to him, and after Von Frantzius' death Mr. Finn, in order to obtain the stock, was compelled to pay the administrators of the estate the market price of the stock on the date of delivery, so that Mr. Finn in fact paid for this stock twice instead of receiving it free of charge, as is alleged in the petition. The dividend of $200 paid to him on Anaconda stock was paid to him on stock which he owned."

The friendship of Finn and Marcuse extended to the Buena Shore club where both are members.



CHICAGO BANK'S LOAN TO CHINA GETS APPROVAL

State Department Finds Fault with Japan's Proposals.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The state department, it was learned today, has disapproved the proposed Japanese definition of territories to be excluded from the scope of the consortium for financing China.

The department also, in approving a loan of $30,000,000 to China by the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank of Chicago, rejected a British proposal that Japan's territorial reservation to the consortium agreement be accepted in so far as it affected South Manchuria, and that the four powers—America, Great Britain, France, and Japan—advance to China a loan not to exceed $25,000,000.

Believed Best Solution.

The British foreign office suggested that the Japanese reservation regarding South Manchuria be accepted as defined by Japan, on account of territorial propinquity, South Manchuria bordering Corea, this reservation also having been clearly defined and there being in existence recognized railroad and other concessions in South Manchuria belonging to Japan.

Britain proposed, further, that the Japanese reservation respecting eastern Inner Mongolia be rejected, because of its undefined character and owing, also, to the absence of such special conditions as pertain to South Manchuria.

It is known that the British government believes South Manchuria is the crux of Japan's desire and that, notwithstanding certain unfulfilled railway concessions alleged to affect eastern Inner Mongolia but actually penetrating the province of Chihli, the reservation affecting eastern Inner Mongolia will be dropped by the Japanese government.

Chicago Loan Approved.

In effect, the reply of the state department was the approval of the Chicago bank's loan of $30,000,000 to the Chinese government, the terms of which were first scrutinized by the department.

ROBBED OF AUTO IN FRONT OF HOME.

John Roberts, 5128 Hyde Park boulevard, was robbed of his automobile by two young robbers in front of his home last night at 7 o'clock. One of the robbers was armed. When he drove away he said "Thanks, old topper."

ECHOES

Maj. W. F. Von Zelinski of the U. S. medical corps announced yesterday that he wishes to organize an auxiliary of 7th division men in and around Chicago. "There are a number of them," he said. "I wish to ask them all to communicate with me at my home at 4709 North Rockwell street." Maj. Von Zelinski expects to be discharged soon.

Ravenswood Presbyterian church dedicated a bronze memorial tablet last night to those of its members who served in the war. Col. A. M. Davis, Q. M., was the principal speaker. ...FALL IN STOCKS NO REFLECTION ON PROSPERITY

...Drop Due to Artificial Means Taken to Curb Credit.

If the turbulent fall in stock prices and the high rates for call money are to be regarded as reflecting adverse trade factors, there would be warranted a serious inventory of the country's business conditions.

But there is no expression of uncertainty over fundamentals.

The New York banks, in a desire adequately to interpret the wishes of the federal reserve board at Washington and for the general public's good to curb violent speculation in a number of industrial stocks, have restricted credit and advanced interest charges to four times what they were during the period of the war—not an unprofitable exercise of prudence, since it pays at the rate of from 12 to 25 per cent. And if there are not now there presently should be some bargains in securities, an additional reward.

Earnings Are Large.

The market turbulence has been brought about by the mechanical operation of the lever of credit. The price dullness do not result from bankruptcy of the concerns whose securities are represented. Large earnings are, on the contrary, reported. If bankruptcy such as befell the New York, New Haven and Hartford, were at the bottom of topping prices there would be brought about the apprehension that results from loss in earning power and shrinkage in values below a level which prudence and public confidence had established. In the present instance only the froth is being blown away.

But for the present market it is a matter of willy-nilly forcing out speculators. Were it otherwise the termination of two such strikes as that of the steel workers and the coal miners, involving roundly $80,000 men, would not be overlooked. That industrial uprisings such as those mentioned can be avoided without material loss indicates forces of stability in the country's political and economic conditions that should make for high confidence in the value of securities. It will do so when the peak of overspeculation has been razed.

Wealthy Feel Poor.

A La Salle street banker, who returned from New York yesterday, observed:

"It does not represent the facts to say that the rich are responsible for the extravagance and attending high prices that now obtain. Those who have long enjoyed wealth really feel poor on account of the taxes that are to be paid. It is the newly rich who have suddenly come into an unaccustomed wealth that are buying without regard to price.

"There is firmness in money due generally at this time to the fact that several billion dollars of products from the soil are being held back from the markets. But the wealth has grown or been taken from the earth, and is still with us. It only remains to be turned into money or credit."

FINANCIAL NOTES

The preferred and common stocks of the Standard Gas and Electric company and $75,000 additional preferred stock of the Insurance Exchange Building corporation were listed yesterday for trading on the Chicago stock exchange. The Standard company is the principal holding and management company for the Byllesby properties, and has outstanding $12,279,950 8 per cent cumulative preferred and $12,679,150 common stocks, both at $50 par value. The dividends have been paid on the common stock, but present earnings are at a rate equivalent to 10 per cent for this issue.

Stockholders of the Famous Players' Lasky corporation have voted to authorize the creation of $20,000,000 8 per cent convertible preferred stock of $100 par value, and to increase the authorized common stock from 200,000 to 450,000 shares of no par value. Of the new preferred $10,000,000 has been offered to stockholders at par. This stock is convertible into common at 110 up to Nov. 30, 1920, and 115 up to Nov. 30, 1921, and at 120 thereafter. None of the new common shares are to be issued at this time.

Members of the Chicago stock exchange have under consideration the question of enforcing or modifying a by-law which prohibits members trading on the curb in stocks and bonds which appear on the "unlisted" list of the exchange. The governing committee yesterday admitted to membership William C. Jackson, Joseph F. Lamy and George Putnam.

The John R. Thompson company will open this week in Chicago the first of a chain of cash-and-carry stores. The new enterprise is expected to add materially to the company's earnings.

Stockholders of the Middle States Oil company will receive a 10 per cent stock dividend on Dec. 1 in addition to the regular dividend. The Dominion Oil company, a subsidiary of the Middle States company, will follow the same plan of a stock allotment.

Largest hog receipts since last June accompanied by a break of 15 @ 50c in prices and highest yearling steers on record were features in yesterday's live stock trade.

Receipts of hogs totaled 52,000, and the market closed topheavy, with 16,000 estimated left in the pens. Armour & Co. paid $20.25 for a load of 1,019 lb Texas bred yearling steers fed in Indiana.

Better grades of cattle advanced 15@ 40c, and butcher stock and medium steers showed a gain of 10@25c. Comparatively small receipts and improved local and outside orders caused the strength.

Top hogs sold early in the day at $15.35, but equally as good went late at $15.00. Day's general average price at $14.90 was 30c lower than Monday, and lowest since last Thursday; against $14.45 a week ago and $17.65 a year ago.

Smaller receipts of sheep proved good tonic for the trade, and most of Monday's decline was regained, best lambs selling up to $14.75, with bulk at $14.00 and above.

Receipts for today are estimated at 15,000 cattle, 20,000 hogs and 22,000 sheep, against 8,447 cattle, 18,179 hogs, and 5,673 sheep corresponding Wednesday a year ago.

Court Permits Foreclosure on Aurora, Elgin & Chicago

Permission to file a bill of foreclosure against the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago railway was granted the Northern Trust company yesterday by Judge Evans when overdue bills for $236,900 mortgage interest were presented by the trust company. Joseph K. Choate, receiver for the electric line appointed in August, was instructed to act in this case, which the judge consolidated with the receivership.

A mortgage trust of $4,738,000 in 5 per cent bonds is held by the trust company, according to its bill, and neither the January, 1919, nor the July, 1919, interest has been paid. Under the contract the petitioner contends that the railroad property can be sold.

North American Pulp and Paper.

O. W. H.—The North American Pulp and Paper company had made a gross operating revenue of $4,268,367 in 1918, being an increase of about 20 per cent over 1917. Interest and sinking fund charges increased, however, and the surplus applicable to stock was only $38,006, compared with $45,602 in 1917. The property account was marked up about $3,000,000, and by this the deficit of $226,539 shown in the balance sheet of Dec. 31, 1917, was changed to a surplus of $1,137,488. When the statement was made up the company had a floating debt of $1,918,150. Recently this has been funded by selling the bonds of a subsidiary. Earnings thus far this year are said to be better than last. The $7,635,-886 of stock evidently is still merely a speculation.

Brief Answers.

G. R.—The New Orleans, Mobile and Chicago railway was sold at foreclosure in 1915 and reorganized as the Gulf, Mobile and Northern. The old stock has no value now.

F. S., Ludlow, Ky.—North American Oil and Refining was reviewed recently. It is a speculation.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Fresh eggs advanced 2c to 63c for the finest firsts. Butter advanced ¾c for extras. Live hens and springs were ½c higher. Potatoes were easier. These were the features of yesterday's markets.

Light receipts of fresh eggs caused the advance, arrivals of all kinds being 1,500 cases, against 6,602 cases last year. With 10 cars and 1,200 coops of poultry on the market, trading was active at the advance for chickens.

Potato arrivals were 51 cars, with 232 cars on team track and 39 cars in outer yards. Buyers were slower to take hold.

GRAIN MARKETS FAIL TO ACT AS TRADE EXPECTS

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

The action of the corn and oats markets was not entirely in accord with the ideas of local operators who did the most business.

A break early on the bearish interpretation of the government's wheat selling circular proved disastrous; as values advanced and closed ⅝@1½c from the top on corn, with losses of only ¼c on December, while January was unchanged and distant months ¼c lower. Oats finished at almost the highest at gains of ⅛@⅜c. Barley gained 1½c on futures and rye ⅛@⅜c. Minneapolis and Duluth were closed for Armistice day. Winnipeg had 160 cars of oats, and the close there was ½@⅝c higher, December leading. Southwestern corn markets were unsettled, and oats ⅛@⅜c higher.

Corn Rallies from Break.

Local traders were bearish at the start due to the settlement of the coal strike, clear and cold weather over the west and the offer of the government to resell cash wheat. Prices were forced off 1¼@2¼c, with December leading, but buying by commission houses on resting orders and by some of the professionals, who were short over night, absorbed the offerings.

Owing to the permit system not being revoked until Monday the trade expected that receipts would be light for several days to come, but after that anticipate a much larger movement. The car situation is easing rapidly, and equipment is now being moved into the corn belt.

Sample values were unchanged to 4c higher, with receipts 68 cars. Shipping sales 85,000 bu.

Oats in Fair Bulge.

A tightening in the cash oat situation was responsible for futures showing independent strength. Seaboard exporters were after heavy weight grain in any position, and desirable kinds are becoming very scarce. This with rather free buying by shorts and commission houses lifted prices 1@1¼c after a small break early, and the close was about the top, with December 72c and May 75¼c.

The country shows no disposition to sell grain to arrive, and a local operator figured that after allowing for local requirements, receipts were running 100,000 to 150,000 bu per day less than the sales. No. 3 white oats in store were in moderate demand, with 10,000 bu sold at equal to 1½c under December f. o. b., and 25,000 bu were sold to go to store. Sample values were unchanged to 1c higher, with receipts 37 cars. Shipping sales 145,000 bu.

Barley advanced 1@3c as the result of more active buying by maltsters and shippers, the reports that the "week" had carried Ohio being a factor. Receipts were small, and rather keen competition prevailed. Spot sales were at $1.20@1.41. Receipts, 14 cars, Minneapolis had 70 cars.

Offerings of rye were light, and with buying by cash interests prices advanced and closed ⅛@3c higher. Detr sold 20,000 bu at equal to 3c over December, track Newport News. Spot No. 2 brought $1.36@1.36½. Receipts, 9 cars.

No Pressure on Provisions.

Light offerings of provisions, with a little buying toward the last, sent prices for nearby short ribs higher, while the distant months remained unchanged. Dry salted meats were in good request, bellies and fat backs being wanted the most. Lard was easier for December and firmer for distant months, and pork made a fair gain on light trading. An advance in corn in a measure offset the effect of the bad break of 30@40c in hogs, with 17,000 carried over at the last. Shipments of meats and lard were under last year's. Prices follow:

FINAL PAYMENT MADE ON LAST LIBERTY LOAN

The American people yesterday completed payment on the last of the nation's great war loans. Armistice day marked the payment of the final installment on the Victory loan, and proved the capacity of the nation for absorbing vast loans was greater than the government officials dared to hope when the Victory loan was issued.

The final payment, according to the government schedule, was for 20 per cent. But out of the $4,500,000,000 due at the start, $4,414,847,279 had been paid up to Nov. 7, leaving only about $85,000,000 to be paid yesterday, instead of a sum which, according to the schedule, would have been ten times as great.

American Linseed Company Starts Annual Dividends

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The American Linseed company today inaugurated payment of annual dividends of 3 per cent on the common stock. The directors declared four quarterly dividends, each of three-quarters of 1 per cent, to be paid Dec. 15, March 15, June 15, and Sept. 15. The regular quarterly dividends of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock also was declared. The stockholders at the annual meeting re-elected the retiring directors.

The annual report for the year ended Sept. 30 for the first time showed joint earnings, assets, and liabilities of the company and its subsidiaries. The income account shows net income of $3,855,827, equal, after 7 per cent dividends on the preferred stock, to $16.02 a share on the $16,750,000 outstanding common stock, against $5.77 a share in 1918. The consolidated general balance sheet as of Sept. 30 shows cash and cash items of $635,305; inventories, $12,292,523; total current assets, $19,800,699; accounts payable, $11,022,771; profit and loss surplus, $10,530,477, and total assets and liabilities, $55,437,818.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

It is the belief of a majority of the corn trade here that arrivals inside of a few weeks will increase to proportions that will depress cash premiums and cause futures to weaken. This is the basis for a good part of the selling by local professionals, who are doing the bulk of the trading. An advance in cash prices yesterday was due to light arrivals and those who are friendly to the buying side expect a light run for a few days, as weather has been wet and not many cars are available. For the present the disposition is to look for a nervous market. The labor situation is regarded as somewhat improved, but it has not been the bearish card that the trade expected.

Choice heavy oats are scarce and wanted, with fancy premiums paid for 33½@34 lbs and over. Only an occasional car tests over 34 lbs and not many are that heavy. A car of No. 1 white oats testing 33½ lbs sold yesterday at 76c, or 4c over December and 1c over May. It is said that 12c was paid for 38 lb clipped oats, track New York, yesterday, the highest so far. It takes 34 lb oats to make 38 lb clips, and only a few houses have any heavy enough to reach the high test. Bids of 8¼c over were made for 36 lb clips, and 20,000 bu No. 2 white, 34 lbs, sold at 7c over December, free on board here. Most of the Iowa oats test around 28½@29 lbs.

December oats developed strength yesterday despite the selling by a few cash houses, against which they bought May. There was on the whole less pressure on December than for several days, and the market's action suggested to some close observers that possibly the surplus had been taken out of the market the last few days by seaboard houses in exchange for the cash lots. One of the largest cash houses which were active in selling December and buying May a few days ago was back spreading yesterday.

A great deal of gossip has been out of late about the probable lifting of the 200,000 lbs lid on trading, as the operators refer to it. Those best informed say there will be no change in existing conditions until the peace treaty is signed and then it will come off automatically.

New members elected by the board of trade directors yesterday were Harry E. Howland, with Roberts & Oake, and Ulier J. Smith. Frank J. Campbell applied for membership.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Shipping sales of cash grain at Chicago Tuesday: Corn, 85,000 bu; oats, 145,000 bu; barley, 9,000 bu. To seaboard exporters, barley, 10,000 bu; rye, 20,000 bu from Detroit to Newport News at 9c over December, track there. To store, oats, 25,000 bu; barley, 10,000 bu.

Cash wheat prices failed to be affected by the offer to resell grain by the government. It served to call attention, however, to the fact that red winter in the sample market at Chicago was selling 3@4c below the government, f. o. b., price. Winter wheats were unchanged to 1c higher, while springs were unchanged to 5c higher. Receipts, 72 cars. It would appear as though the trade believed that the Grain corporation has very little grain of desirable quality, especially of the dark hard winters.

Offerings of cash corn were small and demand better. Sample values at Chicago were unchanged to 4c higher, with the close around the top. Receipts, 68 cars.

Cash oats showed relatively more strength than futures and were unchanged to 1c higher. Receipts, 37 cars.

BOLSHEVISM

has never made a disciple of a man who owns his home. One reason why America is the greatest country in the world is because we are a nation of home owners. The man who owns his home makes a better citizen than the man who does not.

The present large demand for homes on account of the rise in rents and the present high cost of building will cause the price of houses to increase.

Silver Fox Furs

SELDOM, indeed, does it occur that anything so rare as Silver Fox Furs can be seen in an assortment of size. We have at present an unusual number of these precious skins. Some are already made up into Scarfs and Muffs in a manner befitting the great beauty of the pelts. Others offer a selection from unmounted skins to be made up to order.

As a gift of a valuable nature these wonderful Furs can hardly be excelled, and an early selection should prove most gratifying.

For Winter Fun

Warm and Attractive Sports Suits

WITH the approaching Winter and the holidays come thoughts of hiking, skating, and other cold weather pastimes. Half the joy of out-door life lies in being comfortably and attractively dressed.

A smart Suit of heavy wool Jersey comes in heather shades. The belted coat has generous pockets which are trimmed with three tiny horizontal box-plaits. The entire Suit is smartly tailored. $45.

Originality

ORIGINALITY is the capacity to see objects through the lens of imagination. The world thinks of flying; an aeroplane results. Many minds ponder the annihilation of space; telephone and wireless spring into existence. Man seeks to perpetuate the human voice; a phonograph materializes.

World-old laws, ancient principles; but new application, revealing the wonderful power latent in man—the power of discovery, of experiment, of pioneering.

It is the business of this Institution, in merchandise and in conduct, to seek, try and venture; to give old things a new interpretation; to Originate.

Furniture Gifts Are Always Welcome—and Remain So

THE average Furniture Gift remains as a well-liked reminder of the donor for many long years. And each day it remains, it gives service in use and beauty that endears it still more to the fortunate recipient.

Why not select such gifts this year? Why not see the many fine pieces which we are showing—pieces of all sorts from Arm Chairs and Reading Tables, to Footstools and Mirrors?

The Fernery is of mahogany, $25. (Also in Jacobean oak.)

Martha Washington Sewing Table—first assistant to the busy woman who mends, embroiders or sews—is of solid mahogany, made for us—$24.75.

Drop-Leaf Tea Wagon—serves as Cart and Table. A most efficient little helper for a busy woman, and a piece of Furniture admirably adapted to the smaller apartments. $39.50. Mahogany, walnut, or Jacobean oak.

Opera Gowns and Wraps of Rare Charm

IT is good to know that one can come to this Store and find really creditable clothes—Gowns and Wraps entrancing in their silhouettes, gorgeous of fabrics, charmingly individual. And—that it is possible to select from a wide variety, obtaining the color one likes best and the style most suitable, at prices that are very attractive, when qualities are considered.

Gowns—Sleeveless, Trained and with V Decollete

Many of the Costumes are delightful examples of what formal clothes were before the war. Three Frocks from a delightful assortment, ready for women who are choosing Opera Gowns this week, are illustrated above—fashioned of handsome

Chiffon Velvets
Metal Brocades and Lace
Pailletted Malines

One style has two fascinating, slender pointed trains to sweep a regal path across the floor; its bodice is cloth of gold, and its main ornamentation handsome sequined panels at front and back. Second from right. $225.

Wraps of Brocades and Soft Chiffon Velvets

These fabrics make most engaging Wraps for Opera and formal evening wear. One of these is illustrated above at the left, with a wonderful blue and gold brocade combined with sapphire blue velvet, and lined with changeable silk, gold-galon finished. It is truly a remarkable "find" at $195.

Fur-Trimmed
Metal-Brocaded Wraps

One of which, pictured above, second from the left, is priced at $225. It has a large collar and cuffs trimmed with black Japanese fox, and a beautiful lining.

Lovely imported velveteens, lined with chameleon-colored silks, are of subdued colorings, of special interest to the suburbanite who wishes to come into town on the trains. Dark-hued, they are still rich with their beautiful linings and fur trimmings. Priced at $195.

In addition, an exceptional collection of Wraps, beautifully made, with and without fur collars, at $125, $145, $175, $195.

A Beautiful Setting for HATS for the Debutante

SO MANY PEOPLE have remarked about the perfect appointments of the Salon des Debutantes—the beauty of its ivory enameled walls, the charm of the little dressing tables before which it is such a pleasure to try on the Hats—that we are of the opinion that more young women, who are noted for the smartness of their Millinery, would like to become acquainted with the service and charm of this Salon.

At all times one finds here Millinery of a distinctive youthfulness—of a verve and dash that youth can best wear—of a simplicity which is in perfect taste.

Just now, with many a Debutante making her formal bow, the interest in the creations of our French designer, for presentation in this Salon, is especially high.

Headdresses for Opera Wear

Again in High Favor

Some are scintillating and gay with crystal and dainty flowers; others—more classical—are in wreaths of flat silver and gold leaves, bud ornamented.

Buckled Slippers for the Opera

Rival Gowns in Splendor

WITH gowns of silver and gold brocade and other rich and wonderful fabrics of the season, Slippers must display equal brilliance.

In anticipation of the Opera season and other festivities, the Shoe Section is showing an array of Slippers of gold and silver cloths and satins of varied colors.

Recalling Medieval Armor

Come These New Vestees

THE chain mesh of silk and metal thread of these new Vestees reminds one of the vesture of the days of Joan of Arc. With either high or low collars, some of them embroidered with bright colors—they are quite the newest of the new. $29.50 to $43.
